The attendance is large, and the proceedings are harmonious and orderly. It was resolved that in the opinion of the Convention workingmen cannot attain complete emancipation from the oppressions of employers through the means merely of local strikes; that all strikes should be subject to a code of uniform rules and regulations; that councils of arbitration be formed to settle differences between the employers and the employed; and finally that trade societies be established in those countries where they do not now exist, and that all such societies be organized so as to be able to act in close connection and concert with one another for the general improvement of the status of the workingmen throughout Europe.

Trial of James Whalen for the Murder of D'Arcy McGee.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—The trial of James Whalen was resumed to-day. Constables Jordan and Pennard stated how their attention was first directed to Lacroix. They brought him to town and he pointed out the spot where he saw a man shoot, and described the particulars of the tragedy. Lacroix is an ignorant Frenchman, and showed that he was extremely unwilling and afraid to come forward in the matter, but that his first statement of circumstances connected with the murder closely agreed with his evidence given yesterday. Witnesses testified to Whalen's mysterious and suspicious movements in the Parliament house on the night of the murder.

Mr. J. J. McGee testified to Whalen's visits to his brother's house on the morning of the 22d of January under an assumed name.

Mr. Buckley, a messenger in the House, gave evidence tending to shield Whalen. He said he suspected another man whom he had seen lurking around the House. It is believed that Buckley will be arrested himself.

Other witnesses were examined, all of whose testimony, although circumstantial, point strongly to Whalen as the perpetrator of the crime. The court adjourned at six o'clock to meet again to-morrow.

The Crown counsel appears to feel wholly satisfied that evidence will be produced to convict Whalen, while the counsel for the defense expect to break it down, and they are equally confident that Whalen will be acquitted. There are said to be seven Orangemen on the jury.

Mr. O'Riley defends his challenging of Roman Catholic jurors, on the ground, as he alleges, of a well known sympathy on the part of the many Roman Catholics in this neighborhood with Whalen. The refusal of Chief Justice Richards to allow a peremptory challenge of jurors, it is thought by many lawyers here, will furnish ample grounds for a new trial in the event of its being found necessary to do so by a verdict against the prisoner. The excitement has been very great.

NEW YORK, September 9, 1868.

The United States storeship Guard arrived to-day from the Mediterranean.

THE CASE OF COMMISSIONER ROLLINS ET AL.

In the case of Commissioner Rollins, of the Internal Revenue Bureau, and others, to-day District Attorney Courtney produced a telegram from Acting Attorney General Acton, to the effect that Solicitor Binckley had not been authorized by the Attorney General, or any head of the Department, to assist in the prosecution, and had no right to represent the United States ex-officio as Solicitor to the Internal Revenue office. Mr. Courtney stated he had found Binckley overbearing, insulting, domineering and ignorant of the true method of procedure, and he found it impossible to get along with him. After some discussion Commissioner Gutman decided Mr. Binckley had no status in the Court, and he retired. The examination was then adjourned to the 15th, and Mr. Smith, the only party under arrest, was discharged on his own recognizance.

THE ASSASSINATION TRIAL IN CANADA.

A special Ottawa dispatch to the Herald says: The city swarms with correspondents, detectives, &c. Around the jail a regiment is encamped and a guard of twenty men receives Whelan every night. Each man is served out twenty-five rounds of ball cartridges and the prisoner is marched in a square. The loyalists have threatened that if justice is not done, they will take Whelan by force and hang him. Public feeling is intense and the moral conviction is strong that Whelan is the murderer. Six or seven head centers of New York and Buffalo are here with money to aid in the defense, and they are closely watched. The defense is despondent. Threatening letters have been sent to all the witnesses for the prosecution and one of them was attacked and knocked down with a slung-shot.

EXTRADITION CASE.

The case of William H. Martin, who was returned from Canada under the extradition treaty, charged with the robbery of a messenger of the Merchants' Union Express Company on the Hudson River road in May last, was before the Supreme Court to-day. The prisoner, while en route here, was arrested by the Sheriff of Cayuga county on a civil process obtained by the company, and the proceedings to-day were on a motion by the prisoner's counsel for a writ of habeas corpus, on the ground that the company, by abandoning the criminal prosecution, had broken faith with the Canadian government, and in fact acted in collusion with the prisoner. The matter was adjourned to the 16th to allow the taking of testimony.

Massachusetts State Convention.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WORCESTER, Mass., September 9.—The Republican State Convention to-day was a very large gathering, and participated in by the most well-known party leaders in the State. Hon. Wm. Claflin was nominated by acclamation for Governor. The ticket is the same as last year, with the exception of Joseph Tucker Lennox, for Lieutenant Governor.

It was resolved to base the future calls for a convention on Republican votes of the State, instead of on the entire vote as now.

A resolution was offered calling for Senator Sumner's resolution and greeted with great cheering.

General Butler spoke during the proceedings of the Convention, as did also Mr. Loring, who gracefully took himself out of the list of candidates for office.

The following were chosen electors at large—David Sears and Jno. H. Clifford, New Bedford.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the Republicans of Massachusetts heartily approve the platform adopted by the Republican party National Convention at Chicago, and pledge their earnest support to the election of Ulysses S. Grant and Schuyler Colfax, as essential to the peace, safety and honor of the country.

Resolved, That the rights of the loyal citizens of the South, won through war and secured through national legislation, shall be maintained.

Resolved, That we heartily approve of the system of reconstruction established by the law-making power of the nation as wise and humane, and as demanding no more than the security and good faith of the country require.

Resolved, That we repudiate the position of the Democratic party, securely and authoritatively taken, which has resuscitated the rebellion, and proposes to overthrow, by force, if necessary, the already effected reconstruction.

Resolved, That the success of the Democratic party tends directly to revolution and civil war.

Resolved, That the success of the Republican party is essential to the public credit, as this party alone can be relied upon to make the actual and honest payment of the public debt in gold and silver a matter of sacred honor, while the Democratic proposition is an evasion of our duty and a fraud upon those who have trusted the nation.

Georgia Legislature—The Eligibility Question.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ATLANTA, GA., Sept. 9.—The Senate today amended the Relief bill by striking out the second section, which includes money in the schedule.

The House passed the bill giving aid to the Air Line Railway through Northeastern Georgia.

A message arrived from the Governor enclosing the report of the Committee in the case of persons applying for seats vacated by expelled negroes, which viewed the Constitutional question and states that the Constitution clearly gave the negroes the right to hold office. Pending the reading, motions were made to table it, as a direct insult to the House. The motions were not sustained, and the following resolution was introduced.

Resolved, That the portion of the communication from the Governor reflecting upon the action deciding on the eligibility of free persons of color under the constitution be returned to the Governor, with the following:

Resolved, That the members of each House are judges of the qualification of its members and not the Governor, and they are the keepers of their own conscience, and not his Excellency.

A resolution was passed to swear in the members having the next highest vote who are not ineligible under the third section of the fourteenth amendment. Several of the new members were sworn in and took their seats.

CHICAGO.

Railroad Accident—Engineer and Fireman Killed—Missing Propeller—Supposed to Have Foundered.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, September 9.—A bridge on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad, two miles from Iowa City, was washed away on Monday night. When the train going west reached that point, about two o'clock yesterday morning, the engine was precipitated to the bottom of the ravine, dragging after it three crowded cattle cars and one wheat car, piling them on the top of each other in a confused heap. The last car raised the heap to such a height as to prevent the passenger cars which came after from following. The engineer was killed instantly. The fireman was badly bruised and scalded, and his injuries resulted in death.

The Hippolampus, a propeller of ninety tons burden, plying between St. Joseph, Michigan, and Chicago, in the peach trade, left St. Joseph on Monday night with about thirty passengers and a full crew, since which time nothing has been heard of her. As she was due here yesterday, it is feared that she foundered during the storm on Monday night, and all on board were lost. The following is a partial list of the passengers known to have taken passage on her: Alvin M. Palmer, James M. Sortore, James Trimble, W. Burridge, John Burridge, Wm. Vaughan, W. Hathaway, C. C. Sutton, B. C. Lewis and Jos. Riford, of Benton Harbor, Mich.; E. M. Hatch, of St. Joseph, and J. Shum, of Bainebridge, Mich.; Joseph Higbee, W. S. Watson and A. P. Whitney, of Chicago. The crew consisted of captain, H. M. Brown; mate, Robert Richardson; clerk, J. P. Bloom, of St. Joseph; engineer, Richard Eustis, of Chicago; wheelsmen, Charles Morrison, of St. Joseph, and five deck hands, names unknown. Tugs have been sent from here to search for the wreck.

—A dispatch from Benton Harbor, Michigan, this evening, says the cargo of the propeller consisted of eight thousand baskets of peaches, mostly on the main and hurricane decks. The theory is that being top heavy from extra weight on the upper decks, she capsized during a squall. The propeller Comet, which left St. Joseph the same night, reports having experienced heavy weather. The Hippocampus was valued at twenty-two thousand dollars and insured for $12,000.

THE COURTS.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

[Before Judge Sterrett.]

Court met at ten o'clock, Wednesday, and proceeded to business in order.

Thos. B. Hamilton, Esq., presented for approval the report of board of viewers of a road in Elizabeth township. Approved.

David Beck, John H. McClure, James D. Kelly and Alfred Askin, summoned as traverse jurors, were excused for cause.

The grand jury appeared and returned a number of bills.

A surety case, partially heard on Tuesday, was resumed, and among the witnesses called was Michael Sweeney, who refused to be sworn until his fees were paid, stating he had been obliged to leave his work and to pay a man two dollars for taking his place. The Court inquired whether he had demanded pay as a witness at the time he was served with the subpœna. Answering in the negative, the Court directed him to be sworn. He proved rather an unwilling witness, answering questions indirectly. In the course of his examination (Judge Sterrett having taken him in hand) it appeared that he keeps a licensed tavern in the Sixth ward, occupying five rooms for such purpose—one as a bar, the remainder consisting of kitchen, dining room, a single other apartment for the family, and another for the use of lodgers. He was asked what representation he had made to the Board of License, the Court thinking it improbable that he could have obtained license for a house with such limited accommodations. Sweeny said that the house contained seven rooms, but that two had been reserved and were occupied by a lady owning the premises. In the affidavit accompanying his application for license (the papers having been sent for) he represented that the house contained seven rooms, with the necessary number of beds and other requirements under the law. It was plain that the Board of License had been imposed on, Sweeney's statement to the Court of the arrangments of his house differing materially from his affidavit, and that had he represented truthfully in all probability a license would have been refused him. The Court said that although the matter had been irregularly brought up, it was one of which the District Attorney should take due notice. Prosecutions for perjury was the only proper way to prevent such imposition upon the License Board. Sweeny was directed to "remain in Court," but finally was allowed to depart.

Commonwealth vs. Daniel Grubbs et. al. Forfeited recognizance. Judgment confessed.

Commonwealth vs. Irvin Redpath. Forfeited recognizance. Deferred.

Commonwealth vs. B. W. Morgan and Commonwealth vs. John Gracie. Forfeited recognizances. Judgment confessed for amount of recognizance, ($500 in each case) and defendants' counsel, Gen. Collier, moved to remit or moderate, and in meantime proceedings stayed.

Commonwealth vs. William Plummer; indictment assault with intent, &c. Defendant, quite an aged man, residing in East Deer township, had been confined at the instance of his relatives, they believing him insane and considering it unsafe for him to be at large. The immediate cause of his arrest and confinement in jail was his menacing his son with an ax, and also with a pitchfork. The jury found a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

At one o'clock the Court adjourned until to-day at ten o'clock.

POLITICAL.

Republican Meeting at Millvale.

Tuesday evening a large number of the Republicans of Millvale and vicinity assembled in mass meeting for the purpose of hearing the issues of the campaign discussed by the speakers appointed for the occasion. Mr. Thomas McCabe was called to preside and John G. Brown, Esq., selected as Secretary.

The following officers were proposed for a Grant Club:

President—D. T. Johnson.

Vice Presidents—Josiah Riley, John Beiner and Hugh Woods.

Secretary—James McCance.

Committee on Torchlights, &c—T. Seebrook, Isaac Riley.

Committee on Meetings and Speakers—Edward Coats, John J. Williams and S. T. Ketler.

All of these nominations were ratified.

The Millvale Glee Club under the leadership of Prof. Foisey, were now introduced, and sung "Hurrah for General Grant" with fine effect.

The Chairman introduced Hon. S. A. Purviance, who delivered an eloquent address. He called attention to the mighty power of the ballot, and to the duty and responsibility of every man in exercising the right of suffrage. He next spoke of the opposing parties and their platforms, discussing the merits of each. He pointed out the many acts of the Republican party, conferring vast benefits upon the people, and then referred to the acts of the Democratic party, through which war had resulted, and also referred to the conduct of Horatio Seymour on the occasion of the New York riots, when he spoke to the infuriated mob, calling them his "friends." Mr. P. then referred to the recent Democratic Convention at New York, wherein red-handed rebels, such as Hampton, Forrest and Preston, aided by the blatant traitor Vallandigham, had dictated the policy of the party and made the nominations. The people in the present contest were called upon to say whether loyalty should preserve what loyalty secured, or whether those recently in rebellion against the government should again be placed in power. On the question of taxation Mr. P. spoke at length, showing that the Republican Congress had been the friend of the workingman and farmer. He also discussed the bond question, and exposed the utter fallacy of the doctrines enunciated by Democratic stump-orators. He closed his address by a most eloquent appeal to the people to rally to the polls in October and November and vote for the candidates of the Union Republican party, the party which had saved the country from dissolution and anarchy, and in whose hands the control of the government should remain in the present crisis in public affairs.

The Glee Club were again called upon, and after singing "Hurrah boys, for Grant," the meeting adjourned with repeated cheers for the Republican National, State and county candidates.

Republican Meetings.

The following political notices were crowded out of yesterday's paper:

On Saturday night one of the most brilliant political meetings ever assembled in Wilkinsburg was held. Able and patriotic addresses were delivered by Hon. P. C. Shannon, J. F. Slagle, Esq., and Gen. Wm. Blakely. The attendance of ladies and gentlemen was very large, and much enthusiasm was manifested.

At McKeesport on Monday evening Messrs. Glenn and Lambie addressed a very large meeting of Republicans assembled in Market Square. The gentlemen ably discussed the issues of the hour, and were listened to with marked attention.

According to call the Republicans of Scott and Robinson townships met at Mansfield on Monday evening. Col. Russell Errett presided with Messrs. Jacob Doolittle, M. B. Brown, J. K. Cubbage, J. H. Robb, John Anderson, Samuel Glass, J. W. Edmondson, J. B. Glenn, E. C. White, Dr. J. H. Dick and William McClaren as Vice-Presidents, and Messrs. Glenn, Bingham, Alex. McCurdy, William Clark, J. L. Marshall and W. J. Green as Secretaries. Speeches were made by Hon. J. M. Kirkpatrick, A. M. Brown, Esq., and Miles Humphreys, Esq., and patriotic songs were sung by Pope, the campaign minstrel. The meeting was one of most successful ever held in the borough.

At Green Oak on the same evening a large Republican gathering was addressed by Messrs. Thomas Howard and John S. Lambie.

At Oakdale station, on the Pan Handle Railroad, Tuesday night, Messrs. Thomas Howard and A. M. Watson addressed a very large assemblage of Republican voters.

Grant Hussars.

Pursuant to adjournment the Grant Hussars held a meeting last evening at No. 51 Fifth street. The meeting was called to order at 7½ o'clock, Lieut. McFarren in the chair. Very encouraging reports from the Enlistment and Finance Committees were received, one member of the latter Committee having received during the day one hundred dollars in subscriptions.

The Artillery Committee reported an offer from Major Knap of the guns which would be necessary for the organization,

The applications for membership footed up nearly six hundred, with others coming in rapidly.

The Butchers' Guild was represented by Mr. Wm. Hosack, and a number of other organizations in the county.

A committee, consisting of Messrs. J. B. Johnson, John A. Wilson and J. P. Logan, was appointed to confer with a similar committee from the Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention, to push enlistments.

Andrew Cox and H. M'Kown were appointed a committee to procure a flag for the Hussars' headquarters.

Mr. J. B. Johnson was added to the Committee on Finance.

The meeting then adjourned to meet this evening at 7½ o'clock, at the same place. A full attendance of all interested is especially urged for to-night.

—A pretty accurate description has been obtained by detectives of the man who recently ravished and murdered the little girl, Mary Marman, in Philadelphia, a few days since, and every effort is being made to arrest the scoundrel. Mayor McMicheal has offered a reward of five hundred dollars, and it is thought he will surely be taken, as he was seen making for the woods shortly after his meeting with the girl in the evening. The post mortem examination showed that the little child had been first outraged in a horrible manner, and then beaten on the head with a blunt instrument and thrown into a brick pond. Detectives think the villain who committed the crime is the same who murdered the Joyce children, near Boston, some years ago.

—The particulars of the murder of two white men at Thompson, Georgia, by a negro, shows it to have been unprovoked. The negro split open the skull of one with an axe while his back was turned. The colored people in the neighborhood captured and hung the murderer.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

BY JOHN G. WHITTIER.

Great Heaven! Is this our mission? And for this the prayers and tears,
The toils, the wars, the watching of our younger, better years?
Still as the Old World rolls in light, shall ours in shadows turn
A beamless chaos cursed of God, through outer darkness borne?
Where the far nations looked for light, a blackness in the air!
Where for words of hope they listened, the long wail of despair.

The crisis presses on us—face to face it stands,
With solemn lips of question, like the Sphynx in Egypt's sands!
This day we fashion destiny, our web of fate we spin;
This day for all hereafter choose we holiness or sin:
E'en now from starry Gerizim or Ebal's cloudy crown
We call the dews of blessing, or the bolts of cursing down!

By all for which the martyrs bore their agony and shame,
By all the warning words of truth with which the prophets came
By the future which awaits us; by all the hopes which cast
Their faint and trembling beams across the blackness of the past;
In the names of those who for our country's freedom died;
Oh ye people! Oh my brothers! choose ye the righteous side!

So shall the freedom-lover go joyful on his way,
To wed Penobscot's waters to San Francisco's bay,
To make the rugged places smooth and sow the vale with grain,
And bear, with liberty and law, the Bible in his train;
The mighty North shall bless the South, and sea shall answer sea;
And mountain unto mountain shout—PRAISE GOD, FOR WE ARE FREE!

EPHEMERIS.

—Saratoga has a negro bishop.

—Savannah disputes with Pittsburgh, the title of healthiest city on the continent.

—Cranberries are plenty in New Jersey. They are as thick as hops at the seashore.

—Jerry Black, Buchanan's adviser, is now stumping this State for Seymour and Blair.

—Emigrants are going from Australia to Japan, which is already too thickly populated.

—Chicago is disgusted with the Nicolson pavement, and has put down asphaltum to try it.

—Footing up a long column of figures without a drink is classical; it is a Dry-ad.—Exchange.

—Chicago has forty public school buildings, which accommodate 401 teachers and 29,464 pupils.

—It is said that the Harpers use every day in their printing establishment $10,000 worth of paper.

—Ten thousand bronze statuettes of Gen. Grant are now in the market, and the demand for them is large.

—Some ruffians in Newark, last Sunday, bombarded and seriously injured a man, with fourteen beer glasses.

—The colored ladies of New York talk of organizing a club. We thought they had more sense than they seem to have.

—A bridal pair in Savannah were chloroformed by burglars and robbed on their wedding night recently, and the bride died.

—Louisa Pyne will give concerts in this country this year. Louisa is not what the world calls juvenile, but she still sings well.

—Leo Hudson has a cuckoo clock, and not having been very successful in her recent engagements, the Sheriff is going to sell it.

—The poet editor of the Memphis Avalanche has retired and has begun the practice of law again; i. e.: Pike has turned Shark.

—10,000 bales of flax and 6,000 bales of hemp, valued at $23,000,000, were burned up at a large fire in St. Petersburg on the 24th ult.

—Some of the Russians attribute the terrible fires in that country to the vengeance of the Poles for the oppressive acts of the Russian government.

—A young woman in Tennessee, after being comfortably buried, was brought to life by a resurrectionist, who cut off one of her fingers to get a gold ring.

—A Minnesota paper says: "We saw in Winona, a few days since, on a little wild weed, one inch long, sixteen thousand potato bugs." We commend the patience of the counter.

—A German philologist who lives at Jena, where he is a professor, says that within five centuries English will be the universal language. This is bad, very bad for the future French-teachers.

—In Southwark, a borough of the London Metropolian District, the names of all the women householders have been placed on the register of voters. This is the case also at Liverpool and other places.

—An excellent Democrat, who has been trying to find new arguments against the Republican party, calls the defeat of the yacht Sappho in English waters "another result of eight years of Radical misrule."

—Gounod's Faust, says an exchange, has been translated into Polish and was recently produced in that language at Warsaw. This may be true, but we understood that the Polish language was forbidden in Poland.

—August 25th was the last day in England for voters to make claims to have their names registered. The revising barristers decide their claims at courts to be held between September 14 and October 8.

—The New York Leader has found out the difference between New York and the West; (a difference of one thousand miles we should think.) In New York they have Barbe Bleu, and in the West they have Barbe-cue.

—The rebels and other Democrats are down on Longstreet because Longstreet thinks Grant's silence is "grand." And Prentice thinks that Gen. Longstreet himself would be a little more grand than he is if he had the lock jaw.

—One of the largest establishments for the cultivation of flowers is that of Henderson & Co., at New York. They have fourteen greenhouses each, one hundred feet in length, six about half as long and several others which are devoted to the culture of camelias.

—The Roman Catholic Bishop of Montreal has caused a pastoral letter to be read in the churches, forbidding Catholics to attend theatres where such "immoral and indecent" plays as Offenbach's "La Grande Duchesse," "La Belle Helene," and "Barbe Bleue" are performed.

—The Parisian newspapers make fun of the French Government's peace professions. La Cloche, which is extremely anxious to be suppressed, says: "The proof that the empire really means peace is that peace has been made three or four times (after war) since the empire, and that it will be made again.

—A Paris newspaper contains the following interesting advertisement: "A father wants to find for his son a school where he could get a healthy and manly instruction, and where the teachers do not fill the heads of the boys with humbug stories about nations which died and were buried thousands of centuries ago."

—Two hundred thousand casks of Madeira wine are sold for every one thousand that are made. A whisky manufacturer, whose brand is considered to be about the best, was surprised recently on going into the London Docks to see more of his brand of whisky than there had been made in his works for fifty years.

—Why do we get through the Associated Press reports so much about John Allen? We wager there are not fifty people outside (or inside either for that matter) of New York City, who care whether Allen is or is not the wickedest man in New York, and not many more who want to hear about his questionable prayer meetings.

—On the Central Pacific Railway over six miles of track have been laid in one day. We wonder if the contractors and stock-holders of these two great roads, the Union and Central Pacific, are aware that safety and durability are of much more importance than speed in the laying down of tracks? We sincerely hope they are.

—General, then Colonel, R. E. Lee captured John Brown, in 1859, for having rebelled against the State of Virginia. John Brown was hung. General Grant captured this same General R. E. Lee in 1865, for having rebelled and fought against the laws of the whole United States. General Lee, with General Rosecrans, is now telling us what is the proper way to rule the country.

—Gen. Grant and the late Gen. Alexander Hays, of this city, were intimate friends at West Point. Gen. Grant was in his manners exactly the opposite of Gen. Hays, and yet their intimacy was none the less, and continued on after they left the Point, and there is still in the family of Gen. Hays a picture of the Generals taken shortly after graduating, at a time when their wildest visions could hardly have led them to hope for the positions they afterwards gained.

—Either owing to errors in the type or ignorance in the writers, the names of Hamburg and Homburg are so mixed that none but an especially bright person well versed in the ways of both these towns can make out which is meant, and although half of the newspapers say there are eight hundred Americans at the one place, the other half insists that they are at the other. All the journals nearly have announced that Patti is to sing at Hamburg, while a correspondent writing from Homburg says that she is expected there, and so we are left to decide the momentous question ourselves, only knowing, certainly, that she will not sing at both places.

—It is the fashion or the policy of Democrats now to speak of Lee, Davis, Hood and others of that type, as earnest, honest men who for the time were politically traitors but now, are compared, as noble men, to Washington. When uttered in a clear loud voice with an eloquent tongue, such words sound well but---they choose to forget that treason is the greatest, deepest and blackest of all crimes, embracing in its enormity all other crimes from murder and arson down, and that a man is not and cannot be a traitor merely for a period for the crime blackens him for all time and eternity. Because a man did a foul murder a year ago we do not say he was for the time a murderer, and as the stain of blood clings to the name of Professor Webstar forever although he was an educated, polished gentleman, so the blacker stain of treason will sully and condemn the great traitors of the South forever.

LEON ESCUDIER relates in his new volume, "Mes Souveniers," the following anecdote: "The celebrated double-bass virtuoso Bottesini stopped, during one of his numerous peregrinations through the United States, with the rest of his concert troupe at a hotel in a city whose name I have forgotten. Bottesini was accompanied by a little negro boy, half a child, half a monkey, but as devoted to him as a little man Friday, who followed him everywhere. Now, the landlord of the hotel in question had but one room to spare. Bottesini took it, and said the little negro might look out for himself. The virtuoso took a late supper and went to bed. Next morning he was awakened at daybreak in order to continue his journey; the case of his double-bass was put on the shoulders of a porter, another took a trunk and carpet-bag, and the musicians set out. Bottesini thought the negro boy was in the yard of the hotel, but he could not find him anywhere. Finally he said to the landlord, 'As soon as you find the little fellow buy him a railroad ticket, and send him after me.' They reached the town where they were to give a concert in the evening. Fortunately it was only sixty miles distant, a three hours' ride by rail. Fortunately, too, it occurred to Bottesini to examine the strings of his double-base. He opens the case, but there is no double-base in it! In its stead he finds in the case the little negro snoring like the missing instrument. The little fellow, unable to find a bed, had taken the instrument out of the case, put it into an alcove, and then laid down in the case. Fortunately there was a crack in it, and the boy was not stifled. Bottesini telegraphed for the double-bass which arrived in time for the concert."

RIVER NEWS.

The river appeared to be rising slowly last evening with three feet full in the channel by the Monongahela pier mark. The weather continues cloudy and unsettled with every appearance of more rain.

There has been no arrivals or departures since the date of our last report. If the water does not go down, of which there is but little prospect at present, we may expect quite a fleet of tow boats in about Friday or Saturday.

The Bayard which boat left here on Tuesday for Buffington, had no less than two hundred and five passengers, all of them tow boatmen. They were sent down to bring up quite a fleet of tow boats that have been laid up there during the greater part of the Summer.

Capt. Dan. Moore left for Cincinnati on Tuesday to load the McCullough for Pittsburgh.

Capt. Geo. D. Moore went out in charge of the Bayard, Capt. Shepard being unable to leave home for the present.

The Messenger was hauled up to the upper end of the landing yesterday and will, we presume, commence loading for some point—most probably New Orleans.

The Kate Putnam, Armadillo, Armenia, Grey Eagle, and a number of other boats are at the landing ready to commence business as soon as there is an opening.

—The Camelia passed Marietta on Tuesday enroute form Pittsburgh to St. Louis.

—Nashville papers of Sunday report the Cumberland rising again, with 4 feet on Harpeth Shoals.

—The little towboat Liberty No. 3 was sold at private sale at Cincinnati on Saturday, for $2,500. Parties from Ironton were the purchasers.

—The steamer Camelia and Wm. Butler, lying aground for several days past at Carpenter's Bar and Buffington, are relieved from their unpleasant position by the recent rise, and are on their to Cincinnati. The Camelia is bound for St. Louis.

—Captain John J. Adams, of the Memphis and Arkansas Packet Company, has contracted with Messrs. Vance & Armstrong, of Madison, for the construction of two boats to ply in that trade, one of which is to receive the machinery now in the steamer Gleaner.

—A St. Louis telegram under date of Tuesday says: The river is steadily declining, with six feet water to Cairo, four feet to Keokuk, six feet on lower Missouri, and three feet between St. Joseph and Omaha.....Heavy rains have fallen along the Upper Mississippi, which may improve navigation some.....The Keokuk packets will adopt the restaurant plan for meals at once.

—Says the Cincinnati Gazette, of Tuesday: There have been but three steamboats put in the water, by Cincinnati builders, in the past year—the Alaska, Cheyenne and Thompson Dean. They have an aggregate tunnage (Inspector's measurement) of 2,216 tuns. There have been seven barges built, having an aggregate tunnage of 2,825 tuns; Total tunnage built here, 5,041. The arrivals at this port during the year numbered 2,634, against 2,853 last year.....The fine side-wheel steamer, J. N. McCullough, is announced for Pittsburgh, this evening. This looks like business.

—We clip the following from the Cincinnati Commercial of Tuesday: Capt. Moore having telegraphed here from Pittsburgh last evening for us to advertise his large packet, J. N. McCullough to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh, to-morrow, together with a dispatch on 'Change of 3 feet 10 inches and rising at Pittsburgh, led our boatmen to anticipate a substantial rise and plenty of water at Pittsburgh. Consequently the Robt. Moore, R. C. Gray, McCullough, and Wm. Butler are advertised in to-day's Commercial for through trips to Wheeling and Pittsburgh, the Moore and Gray leaving to-day, and the McCullough and Butler to-morrow.

—The Louisville Democrat, of Sunday, says: The subject of introducing the restaurant system on our western steamboats seems to be agitating the minds of the river men, and the traveling community generally, and we do not see why it should not become a fashion. We have, for instance, the magnificent United States. In making her daily trips between this port and Cincinnati, crowded with people, it does not necessarily follow that, because she sets sumptuous tables, everybody on board must eat to get his money's worth. We believe in a man's dining when he feels like it, not when he has to. For instance, a passenger steps up to Mr. Reily, and pays a dollar or a dollar and a half for his passage. Well, if he wants to eat his dinner or supper, let him pay for it; if he dosen't, he saves that much, the boat saves that much, and he goes hungry, or without. Good for the boat as it is for the man. It is certainly a very pleasant trip on such a palace as the States, to come from Cincinnati here, or to go from here there. She is all that the handiwork of man could make her. She is fleet as the winds, and when the traveler is whiling away the pleasant hours, he is being borne over the placid bosom of La Belle Reviere, while his eye drinks in the beautiful landscape, as she "walks the waters like a thing of life." It isn't the elegance of the steamer alone that makes the passenger forgetful of every thing else in the world, save happiness, but it is the courteous and gentlemanly manner in which he is treated by the officers of the boat.

DISEASED LUNGS.

There is no doubt whatever that diseases of the lungs, or ulcers of whatever sort, on any of the internal organs may be, and are frequently cured, and a complete condition of health established. If the elaborative functions, of which the stomach is the primary and most important one, are restored to a condition to do the repairing of the human system, ulcers or sores, whether upon the lungs, the liver, the kidneys or the bowels, or upon the legs, as is frequently the case, can be made to heal, and a complete standard of health re-established.

We have frequently seen these results from the use of Dr. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, a pleasant and agreeable medicine, which will ripen up and carry out of the animal economy all effete and used up material. Dr. K. says that he has known the most distressing and harassing coughs, whose vibrations would threaten to shake the whole constitution to pieces, removed in the course of a few days. In long standing cases of consumption, or of other sometimes fatal, but always troublesome and annoying maladies, known as catarrh, chronic bronchitis, trachitis or pharyngitis, it is a wonderful alleviating medicine in the former and a sure cure in the latter disease.

DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE IS ENRICHED BY SOME OF THE MOST VALUABLE PLANTS AND HERBS KNOWN TO BE USEFUL AND CURATIVE IN ALL DETERIORATED STATES OF THE HUMAN BLOOD, and whilst it adds to its plasma, it at the same time stimulates, gently but effectively, the skin, the kidneys, the liver and the glandular system to sufficient action to enable the body to take on healthful action and eradicate the disease. The sick and afflicted should bear in mind the virtues of this great medicine, and if those who are sufficiently alive to the importance of health, will resort to it in the beginning of a cough or cold, there would be no falling into declines and rapid consumption, so hopelessly incurable and so mostly surely fatal.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 144¼@144¾.

THE South Carolina rebels, more bold and straightforward than their Mississippi brethren, have no hesitation in officially declaring their intention to vote in November, regardless of Constitution or Law. BLAIR promises them that every white man's vote, legal or illegal, shall be counted, force being used if necessary. The rebel votes of Texas, Virginia and Mississippi, States not yet re-organized, are to be counted in the same way. Haven't the boys in blue something to say about that?

NOWHERE IN THE UNION may be found a clearer example of a purely Democratic administration of a public trust than in their government of the city of New York. Backed by some forty or fifty thousand majority, all the rings of the party have full and unchecked play in fleecing the tax-payers. To be a Democratic office-holder in that city is to have the license and the sure pass-port to a fortune in a year or two. What this costs the property owners may be inferred from their rate of taxation, which is $2.80 on the $100 of valuation. Other commentary is needless.

THE OFFICIAL RETURNS FROM VERMONT show a Republican majority of about 27,000, which is the largest majority ever given at a mere State election. The Democrats are hard at work to cypher out a little comfort from the fact that this majority is less than it was first reported, but they find it up-hill work. Let us give them an easier "sum" to figure at, for example: The polls were opened in Libby prison, Oct. 13, 1863, for soldiers from Pennsylvania and Ohio. The former gave 95 for CURTIN and 18 for WOODWARD; the Buckeyes gave BROUGH 160, scattering 1, and VALLANDIGHAM 0. What was the Union majority on each vote? Take time, and let us know next week.

If that sum should be too hard, we can give you another, thus: If the Copperheads found it necessary to murder one Irishman in Clearfield, in order to secure one State Senatorial district in '67, how many good Union men would they assassinate in order to carry the whole State of Pennsylvania now? Sharpen your pencils, not your knives!

THE SOLDIERS' CONVENTION TO-NIGHT.

To-night, at City Hall, the brave soldiers and sailors of Allegheny county who are favorable to the election of the Great Captain of the Union Army, General U. S. GRANT, to the highest office in the gift of the people, will meet in Convention together, to organize a VETERAN UNION PHALANX. The boys in blue who perled so much that their country might live, who underwent long and wasting campaigns under the old flag, who fought against the rebel foe, languished in rebel prisons, who saw thousands of comrades kiss the earth in battle, who saw treason throttled and GRANT'S lines victorious, are now jealous of the honor they achieved, and in the hour of danger propose to be up and again at the enemy at the ballot-box, to guard and protect in peace that which they gained in war. What soldier or sailor will refuse to-night to meet his old associates of the Army and Navy in council? We trust not one in Allegheny county will prove false to his record and shrink from the crisis presented by the same old rebel foe he helped to vanquish. Let there be a full and generous reponse to the call, so that the nation may know where stand the soldiers of our loyal community.

TWO CREDIBLE WITNESSES.

Ex-Governor PERRY and General WADE HAMPTON, both of South Carolina, and both delegates to the New York Convention, on their return made their report to their constituents. Governor PERRY, in a letter to a Democratic meeting at Columbia, said:

"There was no difference of opinion on any subject between the northern and southern delegates."

Of course not. As the leaders of the Democracy north sympathised with the leaders of the same party south while the latter were fighting with all their might against the Government, why should they not fraternize now?

"They were united as a band of patriots," says the Governor. Of course he means just such patriots as followed the Confederate flag—"that dear old flag," as they still call it down South. Governor PERRY continues:

"The southern delegates determined to be reticent in the Convention, and take no prominent part in its proceedings; while northern delegates said to them, 'on the subject of your peculiar grievance and oppressions, draw your own platform, and make it as strong as you please, and we will endorse it.'"

In this, Governor PERRY'S testimony is fully corroborated by that of his colleague, WADE HAMPTON, who said in his address to the ratification meeting in Charleston:

"We [that is the rebels] were met with extreme cordiality. They [that is the northern democracy] said they were willing to give us everything we desired; but we of the South must remember that they had a great fight to make, and it would not be policy to place upon the platform that which would engender prejudice at the North."

We can use no epithet strong enough to characterize all this. It was in effect saying—"We are willing to give you everything you desire; but don't tell the people how much we are ready to do for you; for even in our own party there is some lingering prejudice in favor of the old flag. Don't ask us to say that secession and rebellion were altogether right. You know we think so, but it is not policy to say so. We must practice a little hypocrisy; for such are the prejudices at the North in favor of the old government and flag, that the party cannot be kept together unless we can keep them deluded." HAMPTON then goes on with his narrative of the fabrication of the democratic platform:

"I said I would take the resolutions if they would allow me to add but three words, which you will find embodied in the platform. I added: 'And we declare that the Reconstruction Acts are revolutionary, unconstitutional and void.' When I proposed that, every member of the Committee—the warmest men in it were the men of the North—came forward and said they would carry it out to the end."

There it is. Governor PERRY'S testimony is fully sustained. The platform is of rebel origin, and the firing upon Sumter was not more revolutionary than are those words dictated by WADE HAMPTON, and so cordially accepted by the entire Convention.

Now suppose SEYMOUR and BLAIR should be elected, does it not inevitably follow that by the same vote the country has decreed that certain laws, solemnly enacted by Congress in strict accordance with the forms of the Constitution, and under which seven States are restored to the Union with regularly organized governments, are "unconstitutional and void?" Who is to carry this decree into effect? As to this question we are not left in the dark, for FRANK BLAIR, in his letter to BRODHEAD, declares that the President elect must trample these laws into the dust.

What then? Of course those States, when the laws restoring them to the Union are declared to be void and are trampled into the dust, will be again thrown out of the Union, their governments abolished, and a state of absolute anarchy must necessarily follow. Then, indeed, as one of the Southern orators expressed it, "all for which the South fought will be won." The Union will be dissolved and the Government wrecked and abolished, the very end for which the Southern Democracy fought so desperately to accomplish. Is it the purpose of the Northern Democracy, after all, to give them the victory? It matters not what the voter may intend, but every vote cast for that ticket will be all that one man can do to give the rebel party "everything for which they fought."

COLONIZING COMMENCED.

The Democrats will resort to all sorts of fraud and villainy to secure the October election in Pennsylvania. They are already at work colonizing votes in doubtful districts. The Greensburg Herald, always a reliable journal, says:

It is understood here that the Democracy have some ten or a dozen already in this town, from Allegheny county, which they propose to vote at the October election. They are brought here and boarded at the "Richmond House"—professedly engaged to do some work for Democrats and their new allies—to be kept here to vote for Foster for Congress. Let every Republican voter in the country keep a look out for colonized voters, and note down their names, and where they hail from. Mr. Covode can never be kept out of Congress by such means. It is only when the majority of the regular, bone fide citizens of this District pronounce in favor of Mr. Foster, that Mr. Covode's friends will be satisfied. If colonized voters defeat him, a Republican Congress will rectify such a matter in short metre. So that our opponents may just as well save their money; that won't win. We don't suggest to them to save their reputation. No man who now acts as or with the leaders of that party, have any reputation for either honesty or patriotism. Oh, no; let us have a square vote of the citizens of the District, and we will be content with the verdict; not otherwise, and we warn you now that no colonized votes to elect Foster will in the end be counted.

—Since the above was in type we learn that some fifteen or twenty Allegheny county men, employed on the railroad, have been quartered in Ludwick, to board, and are brought there every evening by switching the car off on the siding."

The opposition have conceded Allegheny county by an overwhelming majority to the Republicans, and are running off their votes to localities where they can be of more service. We say to our neighbors, spot all new-comers, and if their voting cannot be prevented, let a record of their names be kept for future reference and punishment.

LABOR AND ITS DEMOCRATIC FRIENDS.

Said that eminent Democrat, TOOMBS, of Georgia, at Atlanta, the other day, in a speech ratifying the Democratic nominations:

"I will give you another fact, which is enough for this time, that as the late war was produced by the Democratic party in 1860, so we shall never have peace till it is restored to power in 1868."

And then what! Their hoped-for peace means not only the re-enslavement of the black race, but the continued degradation of all labor, irrespective of color. The white freemen, the working masses of the North, should never for a moment forget the deep-seated hostility of the Democratic Aristocracy to free labor of any kind whatever. In 1836, in the House of Representatives, Mr. PICKENS, of South Carolina, (afterwards Governor of that State, when, in 1860, she attempted to secede,) said:

*There never was a society in which one class would not practically and substantially own another class in some superior form. * * All societies settle down into capitalists and laborers. The former will own the latter, either collectively through the Government, or individually through a state of domestic servitude, as exists in the Southern States. The only contest in the world is between the two systems.*"

Pickens was and is a leading Democrat. Gov. Hammond, another good South Carolina Democrat, when in Congress in '52 denounced Northern mechanics as "mudsills." He too wanted slavery to be restored for the use of "a glorious aristocracy."

In 1866, Gov. McDuffie, another sweet blossom of Democracy, declared in Congress that:

"The existence of (white) laborers and mechanics in organized societies was the result of the partial and progressive emancipation of slaves."

Democratic journals in the South have systematically denounced free society a "a monstrous abortion." Read a few samples of their opinion of labor, whether white or black, as follows:

Free society, as at present organized, is radically wrong and rotten to the core. * Slavery is not only natural of origin and right, but is essential to Republicanism.—New Orleans Delta, (Democratic).

History, both sacred and profane, shows that slavery is natural and normal, that "the experience, the practice and the history of mankind vindicate slavery * * * as a national and conservative institution."—Richmond (Va.) Examiner, (Democratic).

Slavery is the corner-stone of our republican institutions—the great peace-maker between capital and labor.—Lynchburg (Va) Republican, (Democratic).

Master and slave is a relation in society as necessary as that of parent and child. * The Northern States will have to introduce it; slavery is the natural and normal condition of the laboring man, whether white or black. * * The great evil of Northern free society is, that it is burthened with a servile class of mechanics and laborers unfit for self-government, yet clothed with all the attributes and powers of citizens.—Charleston (S. C.) Mercury, (Democratic).

Slavery is a moral, religious, and natural institution. * * The laws of all the Southern States justified the holding of white men in slavery. * * The principle of slavery is in itself right, and does not depend on difference of complexion. * * * and that is the doctrine maintained by the whole Southern press.—Richmond (Va.) Enquirer (Democratic).

Senator MASON, of Virginia, said the free States were really "the servile States." The same HAMMOND declared the only difference between the white and black laborers to be that "the negro is hired for life and well compensated," and the "white slave is hired by the day, not cared for, and scantily compensated." KEITH, of the same State, declared "free society a failure." And this elegant gentleman, a distinguished Democrat like all the others whom we have named, also said:

"The ordinance of God," he said, condemns mankind to labor, and certain menial occupations are incompatible with mental cultivation. Slavery produces a superior class of gentlemen, who are substitutes for an order of nobility."

RUFFIN, of Virginia, that good Democrat who fired the first gun at Sumpter, in his book on the "Political Economy of Slavery," proposed to reform "the hireling labor" of the North. Another Southern Democratic author, FITZHUGH, thought a white slave would be worth about $200 more than a black one. His Democracy was crystallized in his favorite maxim, "Liberty for the few—slavery in every form for the masses."

And all these champions of Aristocratic Rights were Democrats high in the party, and equally prominent as leaders in that rebellion which fought for a new Confederacy with Human Slavery, as STEPHENS said, for its corner-stone.

How long will free white men, the hard-working masses of the North, continue blindly to follow such leaders and vote with a party which uses all its specious pretexts, in the name of Democracy, to abridge the civil rights and to degrade the natural honor of Free Labor? To these sweet-scented, soft-handed magnates of the rebel Democracy, it makes no difference whether the "mud-sill" be white or black; he works for his living, his condition is properly "servile," and he is "unfit for self-government."

We wish that every intelligent working man in the North could read these quotations as we have literally given them. And then how long would he continue to support such shameless revilers of Honest Poverty, in their present efforts to revive slavery again?

THE SOUTH CAROLINA FREEDMEN have the manhood, when threatened with proscriptive starvation, and every violent outrage, to declare boldly to their would-be masters, that "they will not surrender the ballot for any consideration whatever; that, if they are to be massacred because they refuse to vote the Democratic ticket, they can die but once, and let it come." We observe that our neighbors of the Pittsburgh Chronicle regard this declaration as needless, "menacing" and "exasperating"! It is only a few days since that our neighbors presented the situation of affairs in Tennessee as on the whole highly satisfactory to loyal citizens of each race. It is evident that the struggle which has begun throughout the South, involving all the rights of the freedmen and even the lives of the white friends of the Union, does not yet secure the Chronicle's sympathies.

DEMOCRACY IN THE SOUTH.

Terrible State of Affairs--Society Controlled by Robbers and Assassins--Bloody Electioneering for Seymour and Blair.

Tennessee.

The committee having in charge the investigation of the rebel Ku-Klux outrages in Tennessee, have completed their labors and submitted their report to the General Assembly of that State. It is a document so full of horrors as to make one's blood run cold. We have room but for the summing up of the investigation, which is all anyone will care to read. The Committee says:

The number of outrages which have been perpetrated in many counties of Middle and West Tennessee, during the past few months, have been so numerous, and of such an aggravated character, as almost baffles investigation. In these counties a reign of terror exists, which is so absolute in its nature, that the best of citizens are unable or unwilling to give free expression to their opinions. The terror inspired by the secret organization known as the Ku-Klux-Klan is so great that the officers of the law are are powerless to execute its provisions, to discharge their duties, or to bring the guilty perpetrators of these outrages to the punishment they deserve. Their stealthy movements are generally made under cover of the night, and under masks or disguises which render identification difficult if not impossible.

Added to the secrecy which envelops their operations, is the fact that no information of their murderous acts can be obtained without the greatest difficulty and danger in the localities where they are committed. No one dares to inform upon them or to take any measures to bring them to punishment, because no such one can tell but he may be the next victim of their animosity.

The members of this organization, with their friends, aiders and abettors, take especial pains to conceal their operations.

The moving principle by which they are actuated appears to be hostility to the State and national authorities, and in the minds of these men to have voted for "Brownlow" of the "Republican ticket," or to be a "Radical," is the greatest of crimes.

Your committee believe that during the past six months the murders in Tennessee, to say nothing of other outrages, would average one per day, or one for every twenty-four hours; that in the great majority of cases they have been perpetrated by the Klan referred to, and few, if any, have been brought to punishment. A number of counties in the State are entirely at the mercy of this organization, and roving bands of nightly marauders bid defiance to the civil authorities, and threaten to drive out every man, white or black, who does not submit to their arbitrary dictation.

To add to the general lawlessness of these communities, bad men of every description take advantage of the circumstances surrounding them, and perpetrate acts of violence, from personal or pecuniary motives, under the plea of political necessity.

Colored laborers have been driven from their homes by dishonest land owners, in order to deprive them of their share of the crops they cultivated and the wages they have justly earned by their labor. Other outrages of similar character are daily committed, and the officers of the law are unable or unwilling to prevent or redress them. Your committee are convinced from the evidence before them, that a resort to some measures that will correct evils of such enormity is an imperative necessity. The testimony they have taken is but a small part of the evidence which might be laid before your honorable body, showing the absolute necessity which exists for legislative action for the prevention and punishment of acts of violence, for the protection of life and property, and for the due execution of the laws. A large number of cases brought to the attention of your committee have been passed over unnoticed, because time and space would not permit their investigation. But they are satisfied that no further evidence is necessary to convince every thoughtful mind that more than ordinary measures are requisite, under existing circumstances, to secure peace and protection to persons and property.

The object sought to be obtained by the establishment of government is the peace of society. Individuals surrender a portion of their liberty and submit to the restraints of legal enactments for the general good of all concerned. Laws are made for the protection as well as the punishment of crime.

If civil law and civil authority are not sufficient for the accomplishment of the purpose intended, military force must be called to their assistance. The first and highest duty of every government is to protect its citizens in the enjoyment of their persons and their property, without regard to their individual or political opinions. If civil law is set at defiance and its agents overpowered or intimidated by evil doers, it becomes the imperative duty of the Government to call to its assistance the strong arm of military power. Citizens have a right to appeal for protection to the government under which they live, and that government which refuses to listen to their appeals or to afford them that protection to which they are entitled is unworthy of the name, and forfeits the confidence of men of all shades of political opinion. If the ordinary means of enforcing the laws are insufficient, it becomes the duty of the Government to adopt such measures as may be necessary to accomplish that object, no matter how severe those measures may be.

Your committee believes that the Governor should be invested with full power to call out such military force as may be required to secure obedience to the laws, and if the calling out of such a force shall be necessary, the responsibility will rest upon those who violate the laws and refuse obedience to the constituted authorities of the State. It is the sworn duty of the Governor to see that the laws are faithfully executed, and for that purpose ample means should be placed at his disposal. Much as we may regret that any necessity should exist for calling in the aid of a military force, yet when all other means fail to secure the end, aim and object of all good government, we have then no choice left us in the matter.

We, therefore, recommend the passage of the bill which has already been reported by your committee. WILLIAM J. SMITH.
Chairman of the Senate Committee.
WILLIAM F. PROSSER.
Chairman of the House Committee.

Georgia.

The following letter from the chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee of Georgia explains itself. It will be noted that many of the predictions made in it have already been fulfilled. It was written previous to the expulsion of the colored members by the Legislature:

The Democrats have inaugurated a new revolution in this State. They intend to overthrow the State government. The first step has been taken, or rather commenced. We have good evidence that they intend to expel the colored members of the House, and then expel the colored members of the Senate, and seat Democrats in their places. They will then have two-thirds of the House; but if they should not have, white Republicans enough will be expelled to give them two-thirds. They will in the same way get control of the Senate. A bill will then be passed to take the State railroads from the control of the government and give it to the General Assembly. The patronage of the State roads is immense, and with it in their hands they expect to control the Assembly. They then intend to impeach the Governor and remove him; after that, God only knows what they will do.

After appealing to Congress to prevent the expulsion of the colored members, the letter continues:

Our voters will have no protection at the polls, and there is great danger of bloodshed, but I do not know that Congress can do anything for us. We are not in as good condition as other Southern States, for they have Republican Legislatures, but the Democrats control ours. They can pass laws to protect voters, but we cannot. We have reliable information that the Democrats are arming in every part of the State, and everything is being done that can be to prevent the colored men from arming. Unless Congress does something for us, God only knows the result in many parts of the State. Our party is composed almost entirely of colored men. If the whites attempt to interfere with them at the polls, and there is every reason to believe that they will, bloodshed will follow. Can Congress do anything for us? Our General Assembly will do nothing to preserve peace; will Congress do it?

Kentucky.

The outrages of the Ku-Klux-Klan in Kentucky are exciting the utmost alarm in all classes of society.

On Saturday night, they entered the house of Glasgow Williams, formerly a Union soldier in Franklin county, and shot him dead, spattering his brains over his wife, who was pleading for his life.

The night previous they burned a large mill and woolen factory belonging to a community of Shakers at South Union. The Shakers who were opposed to the rebellion have been the objects of the most merciless rebel persecution ever since the close of the war. Their houses have been burnt, their animals poisoned, their fences torn down, and their crops destroyed. Their loss by the recent fire is over two hundred thousand dollars.

Last night a negro, in Logan county, who had been in the Federal army, was taken from his cabin, and this morning his dead body was found hanging on a neighboring tree.

Not a night passes but what some outrage is committed against the Union men. It has been proclaimed, time and again, by the Ku-Klux-Klan, that no man who was in the Federal army can live in this part of Kentucky, and that determination is being carried into effect.

Arkansas.

The following is an extract from a letter dated Little Rock, Arkansas, September 1:

"Murder, riot and intimidation are boldly advocated and practiced in many portions of the State, fully equal to the terrorism of 1861. It is not political excitement; it is a hellish rebellion in its worst form. The Democrats have their secret Ku Klux organizations in every town, and are making every possible effort to arm their men thoroughly. We have every reason to believe that a large proportion of them are already well armed. In many localities they parade the streets in masks, and deliver volleys into the houses of Union men. They order them from their houses with the injunction that if they return they will pay the penalty with their lives, for they are determined no Radical shall live in Arkansas. They are rife for a rebellion that would be far more terrible in its consequences than the war we have just passed through, for they talk and mean extermination. The match is already lighted, and may be applied at any time."

DR. SARGENT'S BACKACHE PILLS

Are the most efficient and most popular Diuretic medicine known, removing at once any obstruction of the Kidneys, subduing inflamation and strengthening the Urinary Organs.

Dr. Sargent's Backache Pills

Have been in use 35 years, and are daily performing wonderful cures. In many instances where patients were unable to walk upright or to rise without assistance, they have been relieved by a single dose.

Dr. Sargent's Backache Pills

Cure all diseases of the Urinary Organs, the symptoms of which are weakness and pain in the back and loins, pains in the joints, difficulty in voiding the urine, general debility, &c.

THE KIDNEYS, BLADDER, &C.,

Are those organs through which most of the waste or worn out particles of the body passes; these worn out and dead particles are poisonous, consequently when these organs are diseased the whole system becomes deranged, and if not relieved at once the result may be fatal.

This much esteemed and most efficient medicine is the only diuretic that is put up in the shape of Pills, and is much more easily taken than the ordinary diuretic draughts, the Pills being sugar coated.

MEDICAL HINTS FOR THE FALL.

The semi-annual shaking in the fever and ague districts has begun. The fogs of these autumn nights and mornings are surcharged with the elements of intermittent and bilious remittent fevers, and, unfortunately, two-thirds of the community are just in the condition to be disastrously affected by them. Those who have been prudent enough to fortify themselves during the summer with that powerful and infallible vegetable invigorant HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—are fore-armed against malaria, and have nothing to fear. But health is the last thing too many think about. In the pursuit of gain or pleasure the blessing, without which wealth is dross and enjoyment impossible, is neglected.

Better late than never is a consolatory proverb, however, and all who begin to feel the premonitory symptoms of any of the epidemics which are engendered by the malaria of autumn, should immediately resort to the GREAT ANTIDOTE OF THE AGE. A few doses of the BITTERS will break up the chills and prevent their recurrence. In every region where intermittents prevail this purest and best of all vegetable tonics is indispensable. Of all antibilious preparations known it is the most effective and harmless. It does not stimulate the liver violently, like the mineral salivants, but tones, renovates and regulates the organ without creating any general disturbance of the system or entailing any reaction. The Bitters are essentially a household specific, and should be always within reach as the very best means of preventing and checking bilious attacks and intermittent fevers.

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE EAR.

In observations and notes taken by Dr. KEYSER, of this city, on the various diseases of the ear, he says that nine out of ten cases could be cured in their incipiency if application were made to some responsible and competent aural surgeon. The Doctor quotes from the opinion of Wilde, a well known aural surgeon, who says: "I fear not to reiterate the assertion which I made on several former occasions, that if the disease of the ear were as well studied or understood by the generality of practitioners, and as early attended to as those of the eye, it would be found that they were just as much within the pale of scientific treatment. * * Deafness is so common and so distressing an infirmity, and when of long standing so incurable, that we cannot too strongly urge all medical practitioners to make themselves familiar with the treatment of the diseases of the ear."

The Doctor says that nearly all annoying Discharges, Buzzings and Morbid Growths peculiar to the organ of the hearing, some of which had lingered through a score or two of years, can be cured or ameliorated by proper treatment.

☞ MEETING OF SOLDIERS.

To all Honorably Discharged Soldiers and Sailors.

COMRADES: At an informal gathering of a few soldiers, not politicians or partizans, the question was raised as to how soldiers would probably vote in the approaching election. Those assembled, though in times past divided in political sentiment, proved unanimous in support of Gen. GRANT. It was determined to issue an Address to our comrades, calling a meeting of all who desire the election of Gen. GRANT, with a view to concert of action. This conclusion was arrived at without consultation with any politician or political Executive Committee, and uninfluenced by suggestions from such parties.

When Treason dared to attempt the overthrow of our Government, and the disruption of the Union, we waited not to consult our former political parties or their leaders, or to see on which side our party might range itself, but we all—Democrats, Republicans and Bell-Everett men—sprang promptly to arms to save our common country from its foes. And now that the excitement of conflict is passed, the clash of arms hushed, our muskets and accoutrements laid aside, amid the comforts and quiet of home we look back on our patriotic course with pride, mingled only with tears over the memory of our fallen comrades; not one feeling of self reproach mars the retrospect, although we recollect that among our companions in arms were many who had been our political opponents, and among our foes were some whom we had revered and followed as political guides and oracles.

At the close of the war, some who had gone away Democrats returned Republicans, but not a few came home with the expectation of again acting and voting with the once glorious Democratic party—hoping and believing that it had seen and repented its errors. Some of us have, indeed, since our return, supported nominees of the Democratic party.

But now that another general election impends, it is our duty again to choose sides—not as partizans, but as patriots. A true Union soldier can never become a mere party man.

Realizing this, the undersigned address this Call to their fellow soldiers, not in behalf of a political party or its nominees, but in behalf of the Peace and Prosperity of our Nation, which are again threatened. Had the Democratic party spurned the dictation of Wade Hampton and his co-traitors, and offered us a loyal, honest, Union platform, with Hancock or some other candidate having a good war record, some of the undersigned would not have joined in issuing this call. But with such a platform and ticket, championed by Wade Hampton, Forrest, Semmes, Cobb, Toombs, Wise and other like traitors, we cannot hesitate as to our course. To say that the threats of these known enemies of the Union mean nothing is worse than folly: they proved themselves terribly in earnest before, and we have every reason to believe that they are equally so now.

Regarding this contest as a renewal of that we helped to decide in the field, we have once more laid aside all party feeling and have re-enlisted under the noble soldier who led us to victory after others had failed. Gen. GRANT is not and cannot become a party man—he is a true, earnest, faithful friend of the Union. The Republican party cannot claim him: though the nominee of that party, he is, in fact, the candidate of the true Union men of the Nation, just as Horatio Seymour is the candidate of the Southern traitors, Hampton, Forrest, Semmes & Co., though nominally the Democratic candidate.

We invite all honorably discharged soldiers and sailors in the county, who, though ever ready to fight for the Union, yet prefer peace to war, to meet us at CITY HALL, on THURSDAY EVENING, Sept. 10th, at 7 o'clock, to consider the expediency of organizing an Independent Veteran Corps. If deemed expedient, we propose to organize, not a Republican Club, but a Veteran Union Phalanx, to support GRANT, COLFAX AND PEACE.

Come out in your might, and show the rebels who threaten our country that the soldiers of the Union in Allegheny county are not to be intimidated or inveigled from duty.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, September 9, 1868.

The gold market has been very firm today, at from 144¼ to 144½, although there wae little disposition to buy at the higher quotations. The short interest outstanding uncovered is still very large, but at the lower quotations, a great many purchases are made in anticipation of higher rates. The imports continue heavy, and the stock of gold on the market is gradually diminshed.

Government bonds were strong yesterday, but the market was largely oversold by parties anxious to buy at low rates, and quotations yielded; at the close the market was about ¾ per cent. lower than at the opening yesterday.

Stocks are dull and lower, although large purchases were made by the bull cliques to sustain the market, but the outside support is wanting, and money is scarcer. In Express shares there is a better feeling. Merchants Union is firm at 22¾; Adams, 49¾; the balance is unchanged.

Business is improving, and money easy.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz: Gold, 144¾; Eighty-one's, 113¾; Five Twenties, 1862, 113½; do, 1864, 109; do, 1865, 111; do, 1865, new, 108¾; do, 1867, 108¼; do, 1868; 108¾; Ten Forties, 104¾. —Our Eastern exchanges report that late advices from Europe show a continuons and heavy demand for our bonds in the German market. During the recent bull movement in gold the German bankers in New York, who had ovesold gold very largely in order to offset their sales and procure gold, sent United States bonds to Europe for sale. The proceeds were to be returned in coin. This checked the export of specie, and even caused a return flow of the precious article, the immediate effect of which was a speedy decline in the premium. It was naturally to be expected that the amount of bonds thus forced on the Continental exchanges would materially affect the price, but, on the contrary, the demand for them was so great that they were not only rapidly absorbed, but the price actually advanced.

New York Dry Goods Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—There is an improved demand for all classes of goods, both wool and colton, as well as silk and flax. Fabrics generally firm, even for cotton goods, notwithstanding dullness and depression in the cotton market. Heavy brown sheetings selling at 16a16½c for best makes. Prints generally steady at 13 a13¼c for best best makes of dealers, American, Lancaster, Pacific, Hamilton and Sprague, and 14c for Cocheco. Printing cloths dull at 8a8¼ for good to extra. Colored cottons steady and in fair demand at 31½ for Minnehaha 4-4 ticks; 32½ for 7-8 do; 28½ for Cocdis H. B. do.; 21 for Boston do; 26 for Hamilton do, postscript Richmonds. Prints reduced to 13c, and as this is one of the best calicoes on sale it is fair to conclude that all other prints will be reduced in price also.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, September, 9, 1868.

The general markets are quiet and devoid of any new or important characteristics worthy of special notice. The demand for most of the leading articles is restricted mainly to supplying the immediate wants of the local trade, while so far as as prices are concerned there are no material changes.

GROCERIES—The most noticeable feature in the Grocery market is a firmer feeling in regard to Raw Sugars, and for the time being, the downward movement has been checked, though so far there is no advance. Coffees are a shade lower, in sympathy with the decline in gold, while Syrups are firmer and a fraction higher. In other articles there are no changes worthy of special mention. We quote as follows:

SUGARS—Cuba, 12½c for good grocery 12¾ to 13c for prime; and 14c for choice; Porto Rico—good, 13c; prime, 13½; choice, 14½ to 15c; Clarified Cuba, 14 to 14½c. Refined—Standard Hard, 17c; A, 16c; B, 15¾c; Extra C, 15¼c; Sugar House, 10½ to 11.

COFFEE—Rio ranges all the way from 21½ to 26½c for common to strictly prime. Java 37 to 38c.

SYRUPS—Lovering's $1,10; Silver Drips, $1,10; White Drips, $1,20; medium brands, 75 to 85c; common, 60 to 65c; Booth & Edgar Syrup, $1.

RICE—Rangoon, good, 10½c; prime to choice, 11 to 11½c; Carolina, 12 to 12½c.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, 95 to $1,05; Cuba, 65 to 70c; Porto Rico, 75 to 90c.

SPICES—Cassia, 80 to 85c; Cloves 55c; Pepper, 38c; Allspice, 35c; Nutmegs, $1,50.

STARCH—Madison, 8c; Silver Gloss, 12½c, and Corn Starch, 13½c.

FRUITS—Layer Rasins, $4,75 per box; Valentia, 20c per lb; Prunes, 17c; Currants, 12½c for new.

BAR LEAD—12½c; Shot, $3,50 per bag.

SOAPS—"Babbit's," 12c; "Oakely's," 11½c; Rosin, 5 to 7c; "Dobbin's," 15c.

CANDLES—Mould, 16c; Star, 23c.

CONCENTRATED LYE—$8,00 per case.

BI CARB SODA—$8,50 per 100.

FISH—White Fish, $9,00. Lake Herring, $5,00; Mackerel No. 1, $22; No; 2, $18,00; No. 3, $13,50; in half barrels. 50c more.

APPLES—In good demand, and with a very light supply, the market is decidedly firmer, and prices a shade higher. We now quote at $3 to $4½ per bbl—the last named figure only for choice.

POTATOES— In better supply, and a little dull; sales at $1,20 per bushel, and $3,50 per bbl. Jersey Sweets are firm at $7 per bbl, and scarce.

BUTTER—Is firm but unchanged, with sales of prime to choice at 37 to 40c.

EGGS—Scarce and in demand, with sales reported at 21 to 22c.

CHEESE—Is firm but unchanged at 14 to 15c for Western Reserve and Hamburg; 17 to 18c for Factory and Goshen and 20 for Sweitzer.

SEEDS—Flaxseed— none in market; nominal at $2,25 to $2,30. Timothy Seed is coming in more freely, and we can report a sale of 20 bags at $3,25, and 10 do at $3,50. Clover Seed is nominal at $7,75 to $8.

SALT—Is dull and unchanged at $1,75 to $1,80 to the trade, and $2, for small lots in store.

HAY—Is unchanged, ranging from $25 to $34 per ton, as to quality.

GRAIN—Wheat is in good supply, all the mills being well stocked; we continue to quote at $2,05 to $2,10, though some of the mills refuse to pay above $2. Oats quiet, and prices are barely maintained; 65c, on track, and 68 to 70c, for small lots in store. Corn, $1,10 to $1,15 for mixed to prime Yellow. Rye is unchanged at $1,40. Barley is strong at $2, for No. 1.

LARD OIL—Is firm but unchanged, notwithstanding Lard is higher; we continue to quote No. 2 at $1,20, and No. 1 at $1,50.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is steady but unchanged at 14¼ to 14½c for Shoulders; 16½ to 16¾c for Ribbed, and 18¼ to 18¾c for Clear Sides, and 22 to 22½c for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is firm at 20c, in tierces, and 21¼c, in kegs. Mess Pork, $30,50 to $31,50.

MILL FEED—The demand is fair, and prices unchanged; the mills continue to quote at $1,10 for Bran; $1,30 for Shipstuffs, and $2 for Middlings.

FLOUR—The mills report a fair local demand, but there seems to be no inquiry whatever for shipment to any of the eastern markets. Prices, however, remain unchanged at $10,50 for Extra Family, in bbls, and $10,20, in sacks; and Double Extra at $11, in barrels, and $10,70 in sacks. Rye Flour, $9 per bbl.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, September 9, 1868.

CRUDE.

The market for Crude is quiet and unchanged. We can report a sale of 2,000 bbls, on spot, at 12c, and this is still regarded as the ruling figure for any delivery between now and January 1st. The demand, however, is light, being restricted mainly to those who have early maturing contracts; it is equally true, however, that the offerings are by no means large. For January to July, seller's option, we continue to quote at 10c, the last sale reported for that particular delivery having been made at that figure. By telegraph we learn that the sales at Shamberg yesterday aggregated some six thousand barrels, all at $4.

REFINED.

The market for Refined continues quiet, and prices continue to decline. We can report two "lines" of 500 each from October to March at 29½c, and 500 each from September to March at 30c. Late in the afternoon September was offered at 30c, and we heard of September and October having been offered together at the same figure. There seems to be a steadily increasing demand from the west, and we hope to see a good western trade built up again, and that, too, before long. It would be a good thing for the oil interest of Pittsburgh if our Western Railroads would reduce the rate of freight on oil, so that we could compete fairly with other points. That our refineries, as a general thing, make a finer and better article of oil than all other points in the country is generally conceded, and Pittsburgh brands will always command the preference at the same price. We feel satisfied that if Pittsburgh oil was more generally used in the west, we would not hear of so many accidents.

LETTERS FROM EUROPE---NO. 9.

The Tour of the Scottish Lakes.

AUGUST, 1868.—In these letters I have gone ahead of my story. I have not observed much order, nor did I care to. My object in writing is to give those interested—especially the members of my own beloved church—some idea as to where we have been and what we have seen. When one is in a foreign land, and among strangers, every scrap of information that can be had concerning home and friends there, is most cheerfully welcomed; so, I have no doubt, those at home are interested in learning all they can about the different places visited, and objects seen by their friends abroad. That which I most admire, and which delights me most of all, is natural scenery. A rich, beautiful and extensive landscape spread out before you—O, how grand and inspiring it is! Often have I said to myself, as when beholdiug the mountains of Scotland, looking on the banks of the Rhine, or up the valley of the Neckar as seen from Heidleberg, and the great Castle on the hill beyond — often have I said, What a beautiful world God has made! And were it not for one thing—Sin—how happy men might be in it! The mountains, the lakes, the hills, valleys and forests—how grand and beautiful they all are! Shakespeare writes of the man "who has no music in his soul." So a man who has no delight in the great works of God, as seen in nature, must be destitute of the sources of much happiness and enjoyment. So far as I have seen, I am not prepared to say that nature has done more for the old than the new world. I do not think so. Apart from Switzerland, we have scenery equal to any in Europe, but art has done more for the old world. Art and the taste of man have beautified and adorned, and so made attractive. There are richly cultivated fields, fine lawns, extended rows of shade trees, sparkling fountains, glittering water falls, and silver cascades—all of which are delightful to the eye and pleasing to the taste. In a former letter I described our trip up Loch Lemond, as far as Inversnaid, where we left the boat to go across the country to Loch Katrine. Inversnaid is a town only in name. It has a hotel, and there is no other building in sight. It is a landing, and has a small fortification built for defence against the MacGregors; when about the year 1713 Rob Roy was at their head. Every one has read more or less concerning the beauty of the Scottish lakes, and the grandeur of the scenery around them. It must be seen, however, to be enjoyed and fully appreciated. Sir Walter Scott has not only immortalized himself, but he has also immortalized the lakes of Scotland and the surrounding country. It was among these lakes and hills and mountains that he formed his taste for the historical and romantic; and I do not wonder that he was accustomed to spend a few weeks every summer on the banks of the lovely and placid Katrine. Getting upon not in,—for in this region the vehicles are made without covers and very high to give passengers a fine and unobstructed out-look—the coach we rode five miles over a beautifully green, romantic and picturesque country. It was mountainous and charming beyond description. Here and there a little lake was to be seen; often on our side a clear sparkling stream, and at some distance on our right a log cabin, in which Hellen MacGregor, Rob Roy's wife, is said to have been born. Irish miles I thought extremely long, but these five Scottish miles between the two lakes I thought very short. We were at their end far too soon. Halting in front of the hotel at the landing at the head of Loch Katrine, (the Scotch call it Loch, not Lake,) there lay spread out before us the whole length of what is regarded as one of the most beautiful lakes in the world. Having passed through the very heart of the "Rob Roy country," our eyerested on that lovely sheet of water, amid the scenes of which was laid the foundation of that remarkable poem called "The Lady of the Lake." In half an hour after alighting we were again on the little steamer, making our way down the lake. The afternoon was pleasant. The sun shone upon the waters and mountain sides, and the heavens overhead were blue. Nature seemed to be clad in her loveliest robes. We had with us a copy of Scott's Lady of the Lake, and as we passed along, the points named in that masterly poem rapidly presented themselves. Ellen's Isle, very small and covered with wood and Scotch heather, supposed to be the meeting place of Fitz James and Douglass. To the right Ben Nevis, bold and rugged in outline. To the left here and there a level flat of ground, from which the eye followed the mountain up toward the sky. This lake is too small. If it were larger, perhaps, it would not be so lovely. The ride from the one extremity thereof to the other was too short, and soon we had to take a last look at its fair surface, and getting upon another coach, we rode through a wild, rough, but most picturesque region to Callandar. Taking the cars, in one hour we were at Stirling, a very famous place in Scottish history, having made the tour of the Lakes, and having seen some of the fairest portions of God's beautiful world. Monday the 20th of July, 1868, will be ever remembered by us. Stirling is a town built on the hill side, and is a place of much interest because of its antiquity, its great castle, and because of the important events that have transpired in its vicinity. It is an old town, with crooked, narrow and uneven streets, and though weary with our day's journey and sight-seeing, after reaching our lodging place, we sauntered forth in the dusk of evening to catch a glimpse of its very old and famous castle. In the valley of the Eorth there is a slope of ground. The slope begins on the East, rises gradually, and abruptly terminates in the West at the heighth of 400 feet. On this slope Stirling is situated, and on its extreme West, and very highest point, stands a great castle which dates back to the 12th century. When Scotland was independent, her Parliament met here. Her kings and queens were wont to stay within its walls. The castle now belongs to the government, and is used as barracks for soldiers. On the East the castle is surrounded by a deep moat over which was a draw bridge, and on the West by an almost perpendicular descent of nearly four hundred feet, so that it would have been exceedingly difficult, if not impossible, to have taken it. From the Castle wall on the west is presented what is regarded by all admirers of natural scenery as one of the finest views in Europe. The eye takes in a wide reach of greatly diversified and beautiful country. The highlands to the north; the Ochill hills to the west; the Grampian hills, rising one above the other and stretching away in the distance; thirty miles off, Ben Lomond, lifting up his proud peak toward and near to the sky, and the fertile and richly cultivated valley of the winding Forth on the east and immediate west, all contributed to make the view sublime and one never to be forgotten.

While at Anstruther, in Fifeshire, Scotland, we visited the very interesting and old town of St. Andrews. It is situated on a bay of the German ocean, and possesses much of interest, but, because of its being out of the ordinary line of travel, it is not visited by tourists as much as it should be. It is the seat of the oldest University in Scotland, and is still a place of great fame for learning. Students come thither from nearly all parts of the world, to be educated; from India, from Australia, from China, from New Zealand, from America, and all parts of the United Kingdom.

The city was singularly laid out. Originally the streets all centered in a single point, and thence radiated in every direction like the spokes of a wheel from the hub The streets on the east side, however, have all been washed away by the gradual but constant encroachment of the sea. St. Andrews was once "the Canterbury of Scotland, the nursery of the Reformation, and the scene of many memorable occurrences." We saw here the most magnificent ruins that we saw in Scotland- the ruins of a great castle, of a church and cathedral which was 358 feet in length. John Knox lived and preached for many years at St. Andrews, and under his preaching the Cathedral was demolished, and has been for three centuries and more a pile of ruins. Much could be said about this place, but time and space forbid.

The pious Samuel Rutherford, lived and died at St. Andrews, and I will close this letter by transcribing the epitaph on his tombstone. It is somewhat laudatory and not very good poetry, but Rutherford, as his life and "letters" show, was a deeply earnest and true servant of God. I copy as I find the words spelled.

Here lyes the Reverend Samuell Rutherfoord, Professor of Divinity in the Univer.ity of St. Andrews, who Died March 20, 1661.

Wha tongue, what pen, or skill of men,
Can famous Rutherfoord commend,
His learning justly raised his fame,
True godliniss adorned his name:
He old converse with things above,
Acquainted with Emanel's love;
Most orthodox he was and sound,
And many errors did confound.
For Zion's King and Zion's cause,
And Scotland's covenanted laws,
Most constantly he did commend,
Until his time was at an end.
Then he won to the full fruition.
Of that which he had seen in vision.

The Saratoga Styles.

The Rev. Thomas L. Cuyler writes from Saratoga to the Independent:

"A procession of splendors is moving through the 'Congress Hall' parlors till midnight. In the long line marches a lady from one of the interior towns of this State, whose garniture of diamonds and gold is reputed at $100,000. Verily, 'her price is far above rubies.' How happily doth Scripture describe these belles: 'They toil not, neither do they spin, yet Solomon, in all his glory, was not arrayed like one of these.' I have never seen so much of female beauty here in any previous season. Perhaps we ought to emphasize the word seen; for some of the female charms have been startlingly visible. The theory on which the fashionable dresses are constructed is to expose the upper portion of a lady's form, and to conceal the carpet for several feet, or even yards, behind her. The silk or the satin garment extends for two or three inches above the waist, and the rest is enveloped in a sort of gossamer, 'illusion,' or delusion, or whatever else it may be called.

"Rumor has it that a father was permitted the exquisite satisfaction of seeing his daughter hissed when she entered a hotel drawing-room! The story may be false; but it is certainly true that many a parent (and husband too) has richly deserved to be more than hissed for permitting a fair, beautiful girl to become the indecent gazing-stock of a crowd of strangers, and the butt for ribald jokes of rakes and roues. This is too serious a matter for jests. In these times, there is no little discussion about 'woman's rights'—her duties, dangers, &c. But let us tell our countrywomen plainly that one of her chief dangers comes from Paris. Even now the indolent, indelicate, extravagant devoté of fashion in Paris may say to her Yankee sister in New York or Saratoga, 'How art thou become like one of us.'

"Dark-eyed Cubans abound here this year. One family are reported to have a retinue of fifteen servants. The horse mania, too, is increasing every year. Superb four-horse turn-outs, costing thousands, are seen every day on Broadway and the drives to the lake. Within proper limits, this growing rage for horses may be commendable. It may mean the healthful recreation of a father with his family in the parks or the suburbs of our cities; but then, on the other hand, it often means a most reckless ostentation, which ends in bankruptcy of purse and of morals. I would rather trust a young man who has a sharp eye for books than one who has a sharp eye for horse-flesh. The Saratoga gambling houses are said to have reaped large harvests. Their victims are mostly among the weak, extravagant sons of rich fathers. The bait to the 'club-room' is a free, sumptuous supper, with abundance of 'choice wines.' What water-power is to Lowell and Lawrence, that is wine-power for the driving of nearly all the devil's machinery."

One box of ORTON'S PREPARATION IS WARRANTED to destroy the appetite for tobacco in any person, no matter how strong the habit may be, ☞ IF IT FAILS IN ANY CASE THE MONEY WILL BE REFUNDED. NO MORE HANKERING FOR TOBACCO AFTER USING ORTON'S PREPARATION! RECOLLECT IT IS WARRANTED. BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession:

[From W. P. Heald, Esq., Bangor, Me.]

BANGOR, Me., April 24, 1868.

I hereby certify that I have used tobacco for thirty years past, and for the last fifteen years I have used two pounds per month. I have made attempts to leave off at different times. I have left off one year at a time, but always continued to hanker for it until I used Orton's Preparation, which has completely cured me of the appetite for tobacco. I would recommend all who are affected with this terrible habit to try the preparation, which will certainly cure it if the directions are followed.

W. P. HEALD.

[From E. W. Adkins, Knoxville, Tenn.]

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., August 5, 1867.

This is to certify that I had used tobacco to such an extent that my health had become greatly impaired, and my whole system deranged and broken down. In June, 1867, I purchased one box of Orton's Preparation, and after using it I found that I was perfectly cured. I have not had any hankering or desire for tobacco since using the preparation. I believe it to be all that it is recommended, and I would advise all who wish to quit the use of tobacco to try one box of Orton's Preparation.

E. W. ADKINS.

[From John Morrill, Bangor, Me.]

BANGOR, Me., March 24, 1868.

This is to certify that I have used tobacco for eighteen years; have tried many times to leave off, but have suffered so much from a dizziness in my head, and gnawing at my stomach, that I have soon given up the trial. A short time since a friend induced me to try Orton's Preparation (sold by you.) I have done so, and am completely cured. I did not to the least hanker after tobacco, either to smoke or chew, after I began to use the Preparation.

Daily Prayer Meeting—From 12 M. to 12:30 o'clock at the Rooms of the Christian Association, No. 23 Fifth street.

We call special attention to the card of R. T. Kennedy & Bro., on the fifth page.

Petition for the "Nicolson."—A petition is in circulation asking for the laying of the Nicolson pavement on Sixth street, (formerly St. Clair.)

Meet To-night.—The Allegheny Councils will hold a regular semi-monthly meeting in their chambers, city building, this evening, at seven and a half o'clock.

Birmingham.—The Grant and Colfax Club of Birmingham will hold a meeting at Republican Headquarters, Eichley's Hall, Penn-a street, this evening. Major Wm. Frew will deliver an address.

Disorderly.—G. Jacob was brought before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham, yesterday, charged by John Thompson with acting in a disorderly manner in the street. The accused was fined one dollar and costs.

Bound to Have a Drink.—A thirsty disciple of Bacchus entered one of our restaurants the other evening, and after swallowing three drinks took off his coat and walked away, leaving the garment in payment for the treat.

Base Ball.—The Atlantic Base Ball Club of the Twelfth ward have challenged the Olympic of Allegheny to play a match game for the championship. The challenge will doubtless be accepted and an exciting game be the result.

A Convention of the iron manufacturers of Pittsburgh and Wheeling will be held to-day at their rooms on Water street, to take action on a proposed advance on the price of iron and nails. It is highly probable that an advance will be made.

Threatened to "ax" Her.—Margaret Waters alleges that Mrs. Noonan attacked her daughter, Kitty Waters, and threatened to split her open with an ax. Mrs. Noonan was arrested on a warrant issued by Alderman Taylor and held for a hearing.

Committed.—Alderman Herron yesterday committed, for a further hearing, Wm. Bracken, charged, on oath of John Douglass, with aggravated assault and battery.

Josephine Zang was committed by Justice Arent for assault and battery, on oath of Adam Kuntzman.

Skull Fractured.—Wm. E. Harbaugh, a brakeman on the Pennsylvania Railroad, had his skull fractured yesterday, by falling from a freight train at Turtle Creek Station. He was attended to by Dr. Hamilton, but will hardly recover. He resides on Rebecca street, Allegheny, and had been on the road but a short time.

Alleged Perjury.—R. C. Howard made information yesterday before Alderman McMasters against Henry Meyer for perjury. The information alleges that in a civil suit tried in the Court of Common Pleas, in which Meyer was prosecutor and Howard defendant, Meyer testified falsely. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

Threatened Her.—Eliza Watt alleges that John Hevery beat and abused her little daughter, Edna Watt, and threatened to chop her into mince meat with an axe. The prosecutor resides near the Clinton Iron Works and the defendant is mate of the steamer Fort Gibson. He was arrested on a warrant issued by Mayor Blackmore, and held for a hearing.

Tanners' Club Attention.—Elsewhere in our columns is published a notice from Marshal Brown, instructing all members of the Club to be present at five o'clock this evening at City Hall, for the purpose of starting to Tarentum. The members should remember this announbement, and be promptly on hand at the appointed hour, so that the Club can start with full ranks.

Pure Candies.—With pleasure we recommend our friend George Beaven, No. 112 Federal street, Allegheny, to our readers who may want anything in the sweetmeat line. Mr. B. is a practical man in his business, and we know from experience his candies and fruits of all kinds are the very best. Parties wishing anything in his line should give him a call. Remember 112 Federal street.

Police Officer Assaulted.—Officer John Stemmler, of Justice Barker's police, made information before Mayor Blackmore yesterday, against Mr. and Mrs. Joice for assault and battery. He states that having in his possession an execution against the defendants, he went to their residence to make a levy, when Mr. and Mrs. Joice attacked him with an axe and endeavored to do him bodily harm. A warrant was issued.

Lectures by Punshon.—This prince among living English lecturers, Rev. Wm. Morley Punshon, M. A., is engaged to deliver two lectures in October, at the Keystone Rink in Allegheny. Tickets, with reserved seats, can now be had at the office of the Christian Advocate, No. 72 Third street. The reputation of the lecturer is world-wide. No other opportunity to hear him may ever be enjoyed by the citizens of Pittsburgh. 2

Surety.—Lewis Smith made information before Justice Ammon, of East Birmingham, against Henry Ganstadt, for surety of the peace. Smith alleges that Ganstadt boarded with him for a time but was notified to leave last Saturday. He left, but, it is alleged, came back on Sunday evening and frightened his wife by threatening to kill her, accompanying the threat with demonstrations of a hostile character. A warrant was issued.

Notice to Lot Owners.—By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that a meeting of lot owners and others interested in the old Seventh ward grave yard has been called for Monday evening next, 14th inst. in the old Seventh ward school house. It is earnestly desired that every one interested in the matter will be present at that time, as the business to be tranacted is very important, and should receive immediate attention.

Republican Meeting in Fawn Township.—There was a fine turn-out of the Republicans of Fawn township at School House No. 3, on Tuesday night. John Martin, Esq., presided. A Grant Club was formed, and nearly every man present signed the Constitution. Speeches were made by L. P. Stone, Esq., and Col. Russell Errett, and the meeting adjourned to meet on Tuesday night, September 15, at School House No. 2, when the Club will elect its officers.

Riotous Proceeding.—Officer John H. Mangan, of Mayor Blackmore's police, having authority to eject a number of the occupants of Fort Limerick, went to the place yesterday with that object in view, when he was set upon by some of them and beat and abused considerably. He returned to the office and made information against Mr. and Mrs. Conny, Mr. and Mrs. Joice, Mr. Lee, and others, for assault and battery and riot. Warrants were issued.

Serious Accident.—John Dittmore, residing on Grosvenor street, Birmingham, met with a severe accident yesterday morning, at Woodwell's furniture establishment, on Fourth avenue, where he was employed. It seems that he was working at a circular saw when a loose piece of board struck against the saw and was thrown backward, striking Dittmore's arm at the wrist, lacerating it severely and severing the main artery of the hand. He was conveyed to the office of Dr. Jas. King and the wound was dressed, after which he returned home.

THE SCULLING CHAMPIONSHIP.

Aquatic Sports Redeemed—A Race Without a Foul—Brown, the "Portland Stripling," Beats Coulter, the Manchester Oarsman—Hamill Challenges the Winning Man.

Of late the science of rowing has fallen into bad repute through the fact that a fair race never could be obtained, all contests being marred by "fouls" or other unfortunate circumstances, which prevented the public from forming any clear opinions or estimates of the merits of the respective aspirants. Hence it was that the race yesterday did not attract so much attention as those which have preceded it.

The challenge for the race was issued by Brown immediately after the race between Hamill and Coulter over the Schuylkill course. He had previously issued a challenge to the winner of that race, but Hamill, in whose favor the race was declared, declined the "defi," and declared his intention to quit the field of aquatic honors. The challenge to Coulter was then issued and, after the usual delays and remonstrances, was accepted. Articles were at once entered into and yesterday was fixed for the race on the Monongahela for one thousand dollars aside. The course selected wss just below Dam No. 2 (between Braddock's Fields and Port Perry) down the river two and one-half miles, to opposite the new residence of W. H. Brown, Esq., (about a quarter of a mile below the Poor Farm,) and return. The contestants anchored their boat houses near the starting point, at Dam No. 2, yesterday morning.

From noon up till four o'clock, the hour fixed for the race to take place, hundreds of persons took their departure in vehicles of all shapes and style, on board boats on the river and the cars of the Connellsville railroad for the course. Despite a cold drizzling rain, which set in about noon, there stood for three long hours on both banks of the river fully two thousand men, and many women and children, patiently awaiting the start.

The stake boats were anchored at Parker's Landing, opposite Braddock's Fields, and at half-past five o'clock Brown left his boat-house, which was moored on the opposite side of the river. The crowd by this time began to show signs of impatience and a smart shower of rain did not improve the feeling. Just as the crowd was in hope that the men were about starting, some mysterious authority, from the opposite shore, ordered the removal of the stake boat for the third time. The crowd followed, and as the anxious speculators rushed helter skelter through the mud, curses both loud and deep were heard. Coulter had by this time entered his boat and rowed down to the starting point.

As the men both rowed up to the starting point they were greeted with loud cheers from those assembled on the banks. On the Judges' boat were Thomas Reese, Esq., the Referee, Messrs. Robert Elliot of Pittsburgh, Charles. B. Elliot of New York, Judges for Coulter, Capt. John Travis and J. F. Randall, Judges for Brown, and a few reporters of the press. At the firing of the pistol the signal for starting, both men dipped their oars instantly in the water and both boats darted out beautifully. Brown's first stroke sent his boat a few inches ahead of his rival's and with each successive dip he increased the distance. At about quarter of a mile from the starting point Brown fairly left Coulter, who in spite of vigorous and spasmodic spurts failed to lessen the distance between them. The betting now grew animated, and those who had staked their money on Coulter endeavored to hedge by taking the odds of one hundred to seventy-five dollars offered on the Portland stripling. As the men reached the buoy, Brown was full twenty yards in advance of Coulter, and making a neat and graceful rounding of the point, pulled with renewed vigor on the home stretch. Coulter's boat swung considerably in turning the buoy and described quite a large semi-circle. He came up, however, quite lively and putting in his larger strokes and best efforts gained slightly on Brown. The race on the home stretch was a beautiful one, and amidst the cheering of the respective friends of the rivals, and the sounding of boat whistles was quite exciting. Brown seemed to comprehend that Coulter was gaining, and putting fresh life into his strokes soon again recovered his distance, which he kept and increased till he arrived home. He came in sixty-eight seconds ahead of Coulter, making the best time on record—five miles in 34 minutes and 28½ seconds. He was fresh, and to all appearances could have again gone over the course. The hospitable people cheered him on his arrival, thus expressing their satisfaction with the result, although the winner was a stranger, vanquishing one of the favorite oarsmen of this city. Coulter likewise appeared fresh, and although defeated, was greeted with some cheers. The decision was at once rendered in favor of Brown, as the race was one of the fairest and most satisfactory ever held on American waters. Fully twenty thousand dollars must have changed hands on the result in this city alone, and as much more elsewhere throughout the country. We heard of one gentleman who pocketed fifteen hundred dollars on the result, and rumor has it that a purse of thirteen thousand dollars sent out from New York to back Brown goes back home doubled.

Hamill was on the water in his shell, and appeared much interested in the race. He feels confident that he can beat Brown, although he is free to acknowledge the science and power of the Portland stripling. His challenge to row the winner, now in the New York Clipper office, with the accustomed forfeit, will be accepted by Brown, and the race will probably take place on Eastern waters. The proceedings yesterday were high toned and orderly, and did much towards restoring public interest in aquatic matters. The public are satisfied with the result, believing Coulter was defeated fairly and squarely.

How They Got Their Pole.

The unterrified of Birmingham were in need of a pole from which they could float their colors to the breeze, and accordingly the other day appointed a Committee to attend to the matter. The Committee did attend to it and in a short time a large and stately hickory rose in majesty alongside their headquarters. It is said, however, that the method of procuring the aforesaid pole was not in strict accordance with equity, in support of which there was an information lodged before Alderman McMasters yesterday by Mr. J. S. Boggs, against Frank Boyle, Jno. Shook, J. Coper and J. Simons for malicious trespass. Mr. Boggs alleges that the defendants came to his premises in Lower St. Clair township and cut down two valuable hickory trees, thereby greatly injuring the appearance of the property. The trees had been planted especially for shade and had been carefully watched over for a number of years, so that they were of unusual beauty. They were valued at ten dollars, but Mr. Boggs states he would not have had them cut down for ten times that amount, as he had taken special pride in raising them. Warrants were issued for the arrest of the accused.

County Agricultural Society.

An adjourned meeting of the County Agricultural Society was held yesterday forenoon at No. 10 St. Clair street.

Present—Messrs. James Kelly, B. B. Phillips, John McKelvy, James E. Parke, John Murdoch, Jr., and Captain John Young, Jr., President.

In the absence of the Secretary, J. E. Parke was chosen Secretary pro tem.

Judge Parke, from the Committee on Water and Motive Power, reported favorably in regard to the arrangements for the Fair, and the Finance Committee was authorized to make such expenditures as may be necessary to place the grounds in perfect order for the exhibition.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

End of a Street Row—A Young Man Shot Dead—Arrest of the Supposed Homicide.

A most terrible street row and shooting affray occurred in Etna, near Sharpsburg, on Tuesday evening, resulting in the shooting and instant death of a young man named Robert Calhoun, a resident of Allegheny. The circumstances of the case, as near as we could learn them, are as follows: It seems that a party of young men, consisting of Robert Calhoun (the deceased,) Charles Murphy, John Caskey and another young man whose name we do not know, left Allegheny about 8 o'clock in the evening to take a ride. They were seated in a couple of buck wagons, two of the party in each, and drove out to Etna, by way of Duquesne borough, stopping frequently along the road to drink. At Etna they first entered the saloon of Philip Yund, in which were several men, one of whom, George Evans, was very much intoxicated. He caught hold of one of the party and jerked him about roughly, but did not strike. The man attacked was about to resent the insult when a friend of Evans induced him to leave the house, thus saving a row there, the Allegheny party remaining. Some time after Evans was standing on the corner some distance from Yund's, when the young men drove up seemingly in a fight among themselves. They alighted and commenced fighting on the sidewalk, Murphy being knocked down. Regaining his feet he went up to Evans and his friends and challenged them to fight. Evans' friends dispersed, but Evans tried to quiet Murphy, failing in which the two got into a quarrel, during which Evans was badly beaten and so much injured as to be confined to his bed yesterday morning. As soon as he regained his feet, the young men, with the exception of Murphy, started to get into the wagon to drive off. Evans started towards Spang's Mill, but had only gone a few steps when a pistol was fired. Just at this juncture Calhoun, one of the party, was getting into a buggy, and when the shot was fired he fell back to the ground and expired in a few minutes, the ball having struck him in the left breast and passed through the heart.

The body was picked up and carried into Matter's tavern close by, where Murphy, in a state of stupid intoxication, came and discovering it, patted his cheek and called his dead companion his friend. He was taken in charge and kept under guard during the rest of the night, and committed to jail yesterday morning by Justice Smith, of Etna, on a charge of assault and battery, preferred against him by Evans. None of the other parties have been arrested.

It is altogether likely that Murphy will be held to answer a charge of murder, as during the Coroner's inquest one of the witnesses confidently identified him as the person from whom the flash of the pistol proceeded. The deceased was about twenty-four years of age and unmarried. He was employed as a driver by Messrs. Spencer and Wilson, livery stable keepers on Ohio street. Murphy was employed at Stuart's livery stable on West street, and had come from Cleveland, where it is said his friends reside. Coroner Clawson was notified and held an inquest yesterday morning. The testimony of several witnesses was taken, the most important of which is as follows:

David V. Reed, sworn—Board at Jacob Matter's; was in bed about ten o'clock last night; heard wagons drive up to the door, and heard loud talking and swearing; one of the wagons stopped at Matter's and the other a short distance down the road; when I heard the noise I got out of bed and put my head out of the window; the parties had gotten out of the wagons, and seemed to be quarreling among themselves; saw George Evans and another man come up to where the other parties were; heard Evans trying to quiet the parties; he laid his hand on the shoulders of a man who wore a white hat, when the latter said: "hands off, or I'll shoot you. I'm from Cleveland, and will shoot any man who puts his hands on me." He then said he could whip any s— of a b— in the crowd. One of the men who had been in the buck wagon, hit the man who had been talking, exclaiming at the same time, "What do you mean, G— d— you?" He made use of the expression twice. After the man with the white hat had been knocked down, he got up and ran toward the sign-post; he came back in a moment afterwards; saw him jumping around among the crowd, and saw him striking at George Evans; supposed he had a whip in his hand, as I could hear the blow, and the snapping of the "cracker end" of the whip. Evans was knocked down, and while he was down the parties who had been in the buggies fell upon him, and beat and kicked him; could hear the blows distinctly; Evans had received about a dozen blows, when one of the crowd asked him if was satisfied; Evans cried "enough," several times, and as soon as he could regain his feet he started away from the crowd; at that time the man who had worn a white hat was standing in front of the gate adjoining Matter's house; as soon as Evans started I saw the flash and heard the report of a pistol; feel confident that the man referred to fired the pistol, as the flash came directly from him; I supposed that the shot was fired at Evans; heard the deceased fall; the body fell heavily; two of the parties drove away in a buck wagon before the shooting had occurred, but the wagon in which the deceased had been was left standing at the door; after the shooting occurred, I partially dressed myself and went down into the bar room; Mr. Matter was there and we went out together; we found the deceased lying between the wheels of the buggy; we carried him into the house; he gasped two or three times before he died. He seemed to be either getting in or out of the buggy at the time he was shot; feel confident that the man who wore the white hat did the shooting.

Inquest was then adjourned until next Monday morning, when the jury will reassemble at the Etna House, in Etna.

Alleged Larceny as Bailee.

Catharine Woog made information yesterday before Alderman M'Masters against M. Levi for larceny as bailee. Mrs. Woog is the wife of the peddler who attempted to commit suicide in Allegheny last week. She states that Levi, who is a nephew of her husband, shortly before the attempted suicide, gained an evil influence over the mind of the unfortunate man and induced him to draw his money out of the bank and put it in his possession. By his influence he is said to have procured from his uncle property, consisting of cash, bonds, dry goods, silver watch, mantel ornaments, &c., &c., amounting in value to over $2,500. It is alleged that he retains the money and articles and refuses to give them over to Mr. Woog, alleging that he is the only person to whom the property belongs. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

A Politician Entrapped.

A reliable gentleman tells the following: Mr. Samuel Allinder, and a few more city politicians, were made the victims of a practical joke by German wags at the Saengerfest picnic on Friday last. Knowing that they were fishing for votes, these Germans obtained their consent to be initiated into a mythical society rejoicing in the alphabetical appellation of the "Q. K. P. D. P. B.'s," and which had ostensibly for its object social liberty and the freedom of all people to enjoy Sunday according to their own notions. It was singular that Mr. A., who looks for support from the temperance element, should have been caught in a trap to expose his hypocrisy, but, we understand, caught he was, and gave his pledge of honor to help on the cause of the organization.

IMPORTANT ARREST.

The Perpetrator of Robberies Secured—Recovery of the Stolen Property.

We have during the last few months chronicled a number of robberies which have been committed in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, all evidently by the same person or persons but of whom, notwithstanding the most earnest efforts of the police, no clue could be obtained. A majority of the depredations being committed in Allegheny, the police there set to work and succeeded in investing the city so closely as to stop the operations for some time; but still the operator eluded their vigilance. The robberies were committed in different parts of the city and on the most frequented thoroughfares, which tended still more to envelope the affair in mystery. Some time had elapsed from the date of the last robbery, and the police had concluded that the operator finding the place too warm for him, had shipped to another quarter; but the arrest made on Tuesday evening led to the clearing up of the whole affair, and relieved the community of one of the boldest thieves who ever operated in the vicinity. The circumstances attending the arrest are as follows: On the evening in question a clerk employed in the grocery store of Samuel Dyer, Jr., corner of Lacock and Federal streets, returned to the store, in which he slept, about half-past ten o'clock. In endeavoring to open the door with his key he discovered that the lock was filled with another key, which could only have been placed there from the inside. Suspecting that all was not right, he quietly called a watchman, who in turn collected several of his colleagues, and the party commenced an examination of the premises. Gaining admission into the store they discovered concealed under the steps leading into the celler a German, whom they immediately arrested and conveyed to the tombs and locked up for the night. In the morning it was found that he could only speak in German, and an interpreter being called, he gave his name as Frederick John Deetz, but would answer no further questions. He maintained his dogged silence until about two o'clock in the afternoon, when he became very communicative, and made a complete confession. He states he has been in this country about eighteen months, eleven of which he has spent in Allegheny. He has been engaged in his thieving operations for about three months, during which time he has committed sixteen robberies. He says he generally commenced work early in the evening between nine and ten o'clock, which was the reason he remained undiscovered so long. He has had no associate in his labors, but managed the work alone. Commencing at such an early hour there was less danger of detection, the police being scattered throughout the city at that time, but towards midnight gathering near each other. He resided at 37 Pike street, in the Third ward, is about thirty-five years of age, and has a family of children. The police searched the premises, and unearthed a large quantity of goods, consisting of hardware, dry goods, musical goods, clothing, carpet, and some small articles, all of which have been identified by the owners. He states that he has not sold any of the goods, being afraid to venture upon their sale while the excitement about robberies continued. He has had considerable difficulty in carrying on his operations on account of his wife, who bitterly opposed his proceedings, but was unable to put a stop to them.

The police have suspected the man for some time past and endeavored to apprehend him by surrounding the house; but there being a private entrance, and the chap being on the lookout, their efforts in this respect failed. Great credit was due them, however, for the manner in which they worked the case of the arrest and secured the property. The most important robberies which were committed were those of Messrs. Barr, Knacke & Buettler's music store, on St. Clair street, Campbell's shoe store, on Smithfield street, and Dosch's tailoring establishment, Federal street, Simpson's and Godfrey's hardware stores in the Diamond, and several feed, dry goods, and grocery stores scattered throughout the city. He confined himself to no particular branch of trade, but dealt promiscuously in all parts of the two cities. He is a simple, innocent, ignorant looking German, and exhibits in his appearance nothing of the bold, daring operator, which he has proven himself to be. Appearances, however, are very often deceiving.

Strange Case of Suicide—A Discharged Soldier Shoots Himself in a Bagnio.

The Cincinnati Commercial of Monday has the following account of the suicide of a discharged soldier, who it is likely was known in this locality: "About five o'clock, yesterday afternoon, the sharp crack of a pistol, fired in one of the rooms on the second floor of the house, No. 272 Main street, started the entire neighborhood. The report had hardly died away before a woman, with horror-stricken features and wild, dishevelled hair, came rushing down the stairs and into the street, exclaiming that a man had shot himself, and crying for help. A beerwagon driver and a number of other men, who had gathered round the door, went up the stairs with her, and, in one of the rooms, found a man lying on the bed, with a hideous wound on his forehead, from which a stream of blood was gushing, while the brain oozed out. One arm was hanging at the side of the bed, and the other rested across his breast. Two pistols were at his side. The men hastened to him to raise him up, but before they reached him he was a corpse. The Coroner was immediately sent for, and at half-past six o'clock arrived to commence an inquest. Wounds were found on both sides of the head, and the two pistols which lay empty at his side had made them. Amanda Cummings, a prostitute, and the woman who had rushed into the street, was examined by the Coroner. She testified that the deceased had been staying at the house for two days, and that most of his time had been spent in her society. They were together at the time the shooting was done. He and she had been lounging on the bed for some time, and as he did not seem to be very well she told him to lie over and take a nap. He said he would do so. At his request she kissed him as he turned over, and when she was about to leave the room he asked her to kiss him again. She did so and left him. She had hardly reached the door when she heard the pistol shot, and looking around saw him with a hole in his forehead, and blood streaming all over him. Frightened almost to death, she ran down stairs and gave the alarm that brought the beer-driver and the other men to the room. She heard only one pistol discharged, and did not think that he had fired the second time, for he was struggling with death when she went for help. Other women of the house were examined, but their testimony threw no light whatever on the question as to what motive he had in committing suicide. In his pockets were found, five cents, a lot of pistol balls, percussion caps, a soldier's discharge from the First Pennsylvania Cavalry, in the name of Thomas Lindley, and pension papers from the Department at Washington, addressed to him at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He was plain in features, but not ill looking, and was cleanly and neat in his dress. He had lost a leg and wore an artificial one in its stead."

An inquest was to have been held on the body on Wednesday morning.

—Since the above was in type we learn that at the inquest the fact was disclosed that the name of the deceased was not Thomas Lindley, but Wm. D. Vanhorn; that he was a baker by trade, and that his family resided in this city. On Sunday last he was in company with a Mr. M'Nott, an acquaintance, from whom he borrowed a sum of money to pay his passage home. The jury returned a verdict of death by suicide.

An Alderman Assaulted.

Alderman Lindsay, of the 7th ward, made information yesterday before Alderman McMasters, against John Little, constable of the ward, for felonious assault and aggravated assault and battery. Mr Lindsay alleges that Little came into his office during the trial of a case and drawing a pistol, he intimidated all present by his threats, and forcibly rescued a negro who was the defendant in the case. It is further alleged that after taking the negro away he returned and attacked the Alderman, knocking him down, abusing him, and finall pitching the Alderman and furniture out of the office into the street. The accused was arrested and held for hearing in the sum of $1500.

Little's version of the matter is that a suit was pending before the Alderman, and the prosecutor and Alderman, in order to enforce the payment by the defendant of a certain sum of money, closed and barricaded the door of the office, saying to defendant that he would not be allowed to depart until he had paid the amount. Little said he did not like the proceeding, and asked permission to retire, when the door was opened for him, but before going out he (Little) turned to defendant, (whom he had brought from jail for a hearing,) and holding open the door told him he might retire if he chose, as he (Little) had no further claim upon him. The defendant did not hesitate to embrace this opportunity, and departed. The Alderman was incensed at this conduct on the part of Little, and after some words Little says he struck him with his fist.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The audience which assembled last evening at the Opera House, despite the constant falling rain, on the occasion of the third appearance of Edwin Booth, was one of the largest, most brilliant and fashionable we have ever seen drawn together in the City. It was such an ovation to merit and ability as Pittsburgh is ever proud to bestow on those deserving the acknowledgement. Richelieu, the powerful historical play of Bulwer, was presented. In sustaining the character of the crafty and designing Cardinal, Booth developed the power of interpretation which has made him eminent. His capacity of rising to an intensity of feeling, his strength and power of delineating, faithful to nature, the varying emotions of love, revenge, hate, anger and ambition, which are made to enter largely into the Richelieu painted by Bulwer, who took much liberty with history, marks Booth as a historian second to no other on the American stage. Especially in the close of the IVth act, where he utters his defi to Count de Barradas and surrounds Julie de Mauprat with the charmed circle, hurling the anathemas of the church against those who dared to enter, did the actor rise to his full height, and send a thrill through his audience, holding them spell-bound and filling their souls with awe. He was well sustained throughout, the stock company being well up in their parts To-night Hamlet will be presented.

MASONIC HALL.—Ingrenia, the wonderful wizzard, had a crowded audience last night, and of course all were highly pleased with the neat entertainment afforded. Many extra gifts will be distributed to the audience to-night, and an entirely new programme introduced.

Original Method of Paying a Board Bill.

Peter Harrington being somewhat in arrears to his landlord, and having an insufficiency of funds to square the same, adopted an original method of satisfying his creditor, but one, which unfortunately, got him, as the proverb goes, "out of the frying pan into the fire." The way in which the matter was arranged according to the allegation is this: Peter learning that a female friend of his, named Mary Miller, had engaged herself as a domestic with a family residing on Fourth street, and knowing that Mary was possessed of a valuable trunk, in which she kept a quantity of equally valuable "riggins," decided, if possible, to obtain possession of said property. Going to the house when Mary was absent he, it is alleged, stated to the mistress that he was the husband of her domestic, and that concluding not to let her work any longer for other people, he wished to remove her trunk to his residence. The lady not suspecting anything, allowed him to take the article, which he did forthwith, moving it to the hotel where he was stopping and pledging it and its contents for the payment of his board bill, and the run of the saloon for a certain number of drinks. The trunk and contents were valued at $50 by Mary, who appeared before Alderman McMasters and made information against Peter for larceny, upon which a warrant for his arrest was issued.

Political Affairs at New Castle.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Sept. 9, 1868.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—The Rev. Q. A. Burgess, late of seventeenth Illinois Infantry, addressed the Boys in Blue at White Hall, last evening. Every seat was occupied and even standing room was at a premium. The gentleman was frequently and rapturously applauded throughout his speech, which was of a most telling character. J. B. Donley, Republican candidate for Congress of the twenty-fourth District, also spoke. Ex-Governor Todd, of Ohio is expected to visit New Castle this month, when a big turn-out is sure. The Tanner Club is fully organized and only awaits equipments (from Pittock) to make a display. The Democracy were treated to a lengthy harangue by General A. B. McCalmont, of Franklin, last night at their Club rooms. Our Press were, of course, fully eulogized in the warmest terms. W.

Most Bitters of the present day that are loudly puffed through the newspapers as having great curative properties are vile compounds and base impositions, containing no medicinal virtues whatever, and are really very poor whisky beverages, and, instead of acting as a stimulant and tonic, have a tendency to weaken the stomach by entirely destroying the coating. The public should therefore be very cautious and purchase none but Roback's Stomach Bitters, which have stood the test as a remedial agent for many years, and are really as their name indicates, a stomach bitters and not a beverage. They combine the properties of the best tonic and a stimulant—a laxative, an efficient and anti-bilious agent and the best stomachic known to the world, and when taken in conjunction with Roback's Blood Pills, are the safest and surest preventive against all bilious derangements, thoroughly regulating the whole system and giving tone to the digestive organs.

They are highly recommended as an invigorating tonic to mothers while nursing, increasing the flow of milk, and for convalescents, to restore the prostration which always follows long-continued sickness, they are unsurpassed. No household should consider themselves safe from the ordinary maladies without these invaluable medicines. They can be obtained of any druggist. TTSF

GENUINE SCOTCH PEBBL SPECTACLES, WARRANTED TO IMPROVE THE SIGHT FOR SALE BY DUNSEATH & HASLETT, 56 FIFTH STREET.

GENUINE GLYCERINE TOILET SOAP, MANUFACTURED BY PETER SQUIRE, 277 Oxford street London.

This Soap has been, by a peculiar process, freed from the excess of alkali almost invariably found even in the purest Soaps, and at the same time it is made to take up a large quantity of Glycerine (40 per cent). It is to this latter substance that it chiefly owes its soothing quality—softening the skin, preserving the complexion, preventing chapping and the unpleasant roughness experienced in cold weather. It is found most useful in alleviating the irritation produced by dryness of the skin. On account of its great purity it recommends itself to all persons that suffer from the use of common Soaps; for delicate skins it is the only Soap that can be tolerated. It is particularly useful for cleansing diseased skins, where the irritation produced by ordinary Soaps causes so much inconvenience. It is the most agreeable Shaving Soap that can be used, leaving the skin soft and comfortable. The Soaps usually sold as Glycerine Soaps contain little or no Glycerine. It is only necessary to apply the tongue to the surface and the genuine will be distinguished by the sweet taste. Agent,

SIMON JOHNSTON, Corner Smithfield and Fourth Streets.

Also, agent for SARG'S VIENNA GLYCERINE SOAP. aul5:TTS
